High school years will be remembered as the best years of life. Dreams are fresh and encouraging; hopes for the future are bright. Recalled over the abyss of time, high school years will whisper of melodrama.

Memories of standing in the rain at football games, fighting with jammed lockers and cheering at pep assemblies will bring reminiscent smiles. The memory will fail to recall the trips to the office, but will sharpen on the anxieties of exams.

Kewanee will be remembered as that touching town that set the stage for the years ahead. And friends—good friends are never truly forgotten. They must be cherished as something precious.

STUDENT LIFE

Student democracy has always been a vital part of life at KHS. And on April 29, 1977, the time came for the students to choose their new leader, the person who would become their voice in the government of the school. They had to make the decision between Tom Curran and Charlie Summers.

All the polls had shown that the race was very close; many students were waiting to hear the campaign speeches before making a final decision. The supporting speakers gave strong arguments in favor of their candidates. Both had good qualifications, but who would win?

By the end of school that day, all of the votes had been tabulated. The people had chosen Tom Curran for Student Council President and Charlie Summers would lend a strong hand as Vice-President.

Storybook Land is only a dance away.

Storybook Land came to life for the 1977 Prom given by the Junior class. A mirrored ball, spinning beneath a ceiling of pastel streamers, reflected tiny stars throughout the gymnasium. Paper mache characters from Mother Goose Fairy tales sat along the walls where murals of their nursery rhymes had been put up. A cow could even be seen jumping over the moon far above the orchestra.

Freshmen and Sophomores, dressed as Old Mother Hubbard and the Cowardly Lion, were kept busy serving refreshments of gingerbread men, lollipops and punch. Colorful paper flowers decorated the benches which had been set up for the Juniors and Seniors to rest upon between dances and talk with friends. The couples danced to music provided by "Now and Then." At the end of the evening everyone who attended would remember what a fantastic night it had been.

Dreamy thoughts weave their way through Jeanette Ptasnik's mind as she dances with Greg Larson.

BEAUTIFUL

HOGS ARE BEAUTIFUL!!! That is what Kewanee proclaimed throughout the Labor Day Weekend. The big celebration began Friday night when the downtown sky was lit up with the colorful lights of the carnival rides. Screaming voices could be heard everywhere, and the charcoal pit had just started cooking some of the 38,000 pork chops to be barbequed that weekend.

Saturday was especially busy day! Starting at 2:00 one of the best and longest parades in our history started with the KHS band playing the "Theme from Rocky." Several other high school bands and drum and bugle corps added music to the parade. Beautifully decorated floats and Sesame Street characters were a big part of the success of the parade. That night a drum and bugle show was held at the stadium. Expert formations and modern dance steps were performed excellently by all the corps.

Sunday the talent show was the main event. Kewanee High School was well represented. Two pompon groups, the KHS Swing Choir, and Mr. Olsen were all in the top ten. A hog calling contest was held at the intermission of the finals with Tony Green, a past graduate of KHS, being the winner. Also that night, there was a Soap Scrimmage to show the capability of the new football team.

On the final day of this holiday weekend, a Fly-In Breakfast was held at Kewanee Municipal Airport along with a mud "Tug of War." A free dance was given downtown that evening for all the area teenagers, with this four day celebration Kewanee proved that it is still the "Hog Capitol of the World."

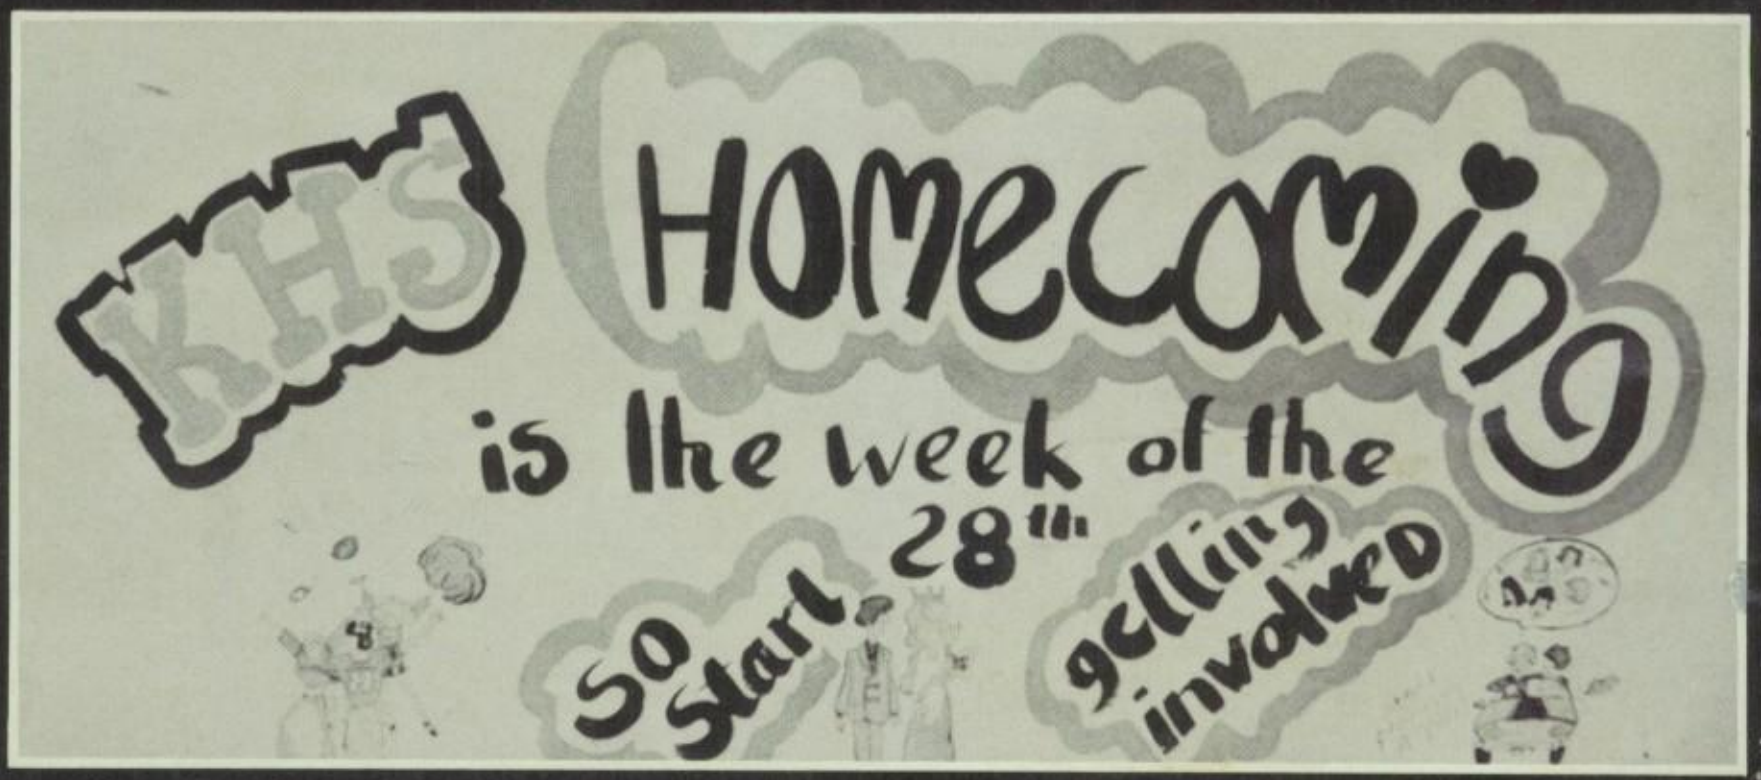
Balloons, confetti, and mums



Kewanee High School was proud to present its Homecoming activities to the student body the week of October 24 to 29. The week had been full of preparations and excitement. Thursday marked the night when the festivities began. The bonfire, held in the KHS stadium, was a huge success, with the cheerleaders leading off with a rowdy cheer to the fired-up crowd. The band took over then, playing songs for the dancing PomPon squad. Coaches Sanders and Kirkham gave encouraging speeches, followed by the class presidents' introduction of the class attendants and candidates for queen. An exciting social hour followed, which kept the spirit moving.

However, Friday was the main event. The assembly started at noon, with the Varsity cheerleaders arousing the student body. Bill Jenkins, KHS's 1977-78 Honorary Boilermaker, gave a speech with his family. He was followed by the coaches who gave predictions and vague threats in almost the same breath. Interspersed between these speeches were the class skits, ranging from the sublime to the ridiculous in such wayout backgrounds as Dorothy's Land of Oz. The theme for the skits this year was "The Movies," and all classes kept the laughter bubbling with each new scene. Then, at the end of the assembly, Tom Curran announced the attendants and their escorts.

Then, the parade. Homerooms hurried to the parking lot after the assembly to put the finishing touches on their floats. The Police Department's Crime Prevention car led the parade, followed by the Kewanee fire truck. The Homecoming parade was great; the crowds of people watching were delighted with the interesting floats. The first place float was made by Homeroom 22. Their float sported a large purple cow, hoping for an "udder" victory. This float, along with the other two winning floats, circled the football field at the big game that night,after a Riveter loss to the Dixon Dukes which was followed by a Boiler loss with a score of 15 to 22.

Saturday night rallied Boiler spirit for the Homecoming dance, set in a Halloween theme. The band, called the "Road Runners," played a variety of music, while the couples danced or sampled the refreshments. It was a pleasant night, and a tranquil end of a fun, but sometimes grueling week.

Imagine a night at Monte Carlo. The blackjack and baccarat game tables, roulette, and the night-light atmosphere. Add a dance floor, a champagne fountain, and a good band. Now, that's entertainment!

Its the Midwinter dance. Girls in gorgeous gowns dance with their groomed gentlemen on a cozy dance floor, cut off from the excitement around them and wrapped up in their own little world. There are refreshments at the buffet, drinks at the tables for those who would try their hand at gambling.

The atmosphere throbs with the noise of the band, the people, and the spinning roulette. A place out of time—an event to remember. That is Midwinter.

The Pajama Game

During the company picnic, Sid and Babe go for a walk by the woods.

The entire cast of "The Pajama Game" takes its bow.

The Junior Class went ron[illegible] tic this year with a "Rock Hud-son-Doris Day" type frolic called "The Pajama Game." The plot was the well-known "hate at first sight", the setting was sweet, and the acting was near profes-sional. The Junior Class gave a superb performance that had the audience enthralled. The play could easily have become boring, but KHS' Junior Class excelled itself and kept the audi-ence between tears and laughter as the actors played out their roles. Beyond a doubt, this year's Junior Class Play was a success.

The Sycamore Family sizes up a prospective member of the household.

There once was a rather eccentric family named Sycamore, and "You Can't Take It With You" is their story. It is, also, the story that KHS's senior class picked for their play. Mrs. Barto chose Michele Roesner, Tammie Kemerling, Tom Halterman, and several other eccentric people for the cast. The lead female role was played by Laurel Hepner as Alice Sycamore, the Sycamore's quite normal daughter, who falls in love with Tony Kirby, played by Rod Helm. What's so peculiar about that?

Not a thing, except when Alice tries to keep her family's strangeness from Tony and his stuffy parents, and it isn't always easy. Alice finds this out when the government men come for her grandfather because he hasn't paid his taxes, and . . .

Well, the play was great and quite hilarious, too. The cast was well picked and talented. And talent is something that will serve them well in heaven . . . what? You mean you can't take it with you?

The 1977 Boys Track Team had a good season under the head coaching of Ken Vincent and assistants Ron Fulton and Frank Tocha. The highlight of the season was when Senior Bill Tunney advanced to the State Finals in Charleston. At that meet Bill cleared 6'4" in the high jump, breaking his own personal record this season.

The co-captains this year were Mic Peterson and Marty Seyller. Moral and physical leadership led the team all season. Mic was the ace distance runner, while Marty was the foremost vaulter on the team.

Two varsity records were broken this year, both relay records. The 440 yard relay team consisting of Rich Lasky, Marty Seyller, Pete Verkruyse and Mike Wilson shaved exactly one second off the old record. The 2-mile relay record was then bettered by 4.1 seconds by the team of Roger Loomis, Mic Peterson, Mike Wilson and Jeff Parish.

The school spirit, which returned to KHS in the fall, was still apparent with the arrival of the last competitive sport of the season. Girls' track has improved each year and last spring was no exception. Karen Peart set a new shot put record with a distance of 35' 10". Carol Gerard equaled the high jump record of 4' 10", and Cindy Sturtevant reduced the time for the 440 yard dash to 63.4 seconds.

Coach Kirkham, a newcomer to girls' track at Kewanee High School, coached the girls to a winning season. The season climaxed when the girls placed third at NCIC, and were seventh in the District meet held at Galesburg High School. Even though none made it to state, KHS was still proud of how well the girls did.

WORKING TOWARD THE BEST

Though the weather was definitely against them, the freshmen football team fought with determination on the field. Their losses were great, but their successes—though few—were even greater. The freshmen football team never gave up; they were perhaps not a large fighting team, but their endurance was to their credit.

As next year's Riveter team, this year's freshmen football team has shown great potential for their sophomore year.

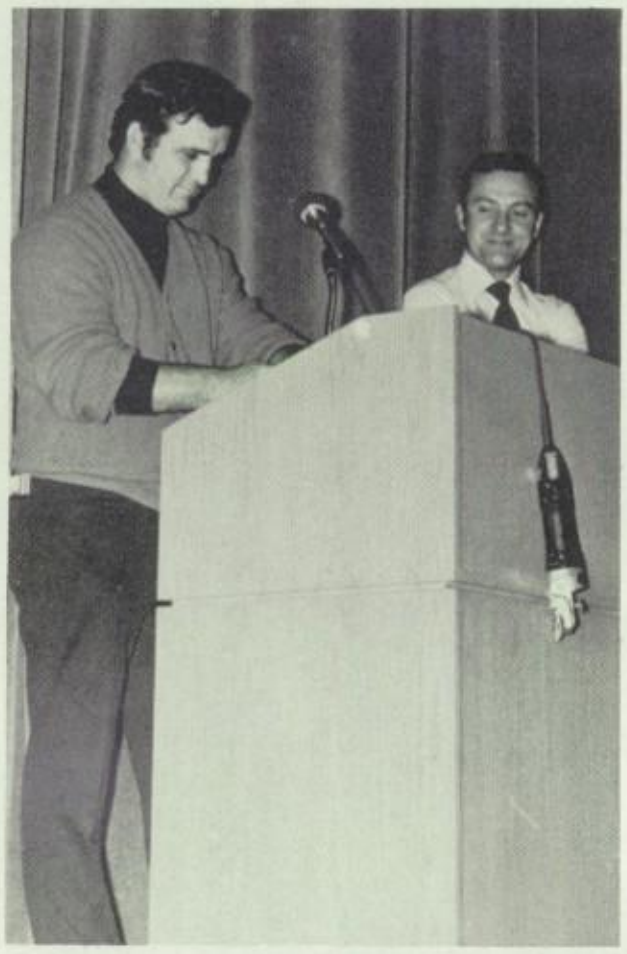
With the sheep shears hanging from the lectern Coach Taylor reminds the Riveters of their promise.



Under the guidance of coach Fulton, the Riveter football team finished off an exciting season this year. The going was rough, the ground was wet, and the opposition was fierce, but never once did the team give up hope. Riveter courage kept the spirit up, although the score was not always in their favor. None the less, the team had the fans cheering at their excellent defense. Next year, as varsity, this year's Riveters will be experienced in tough competition.

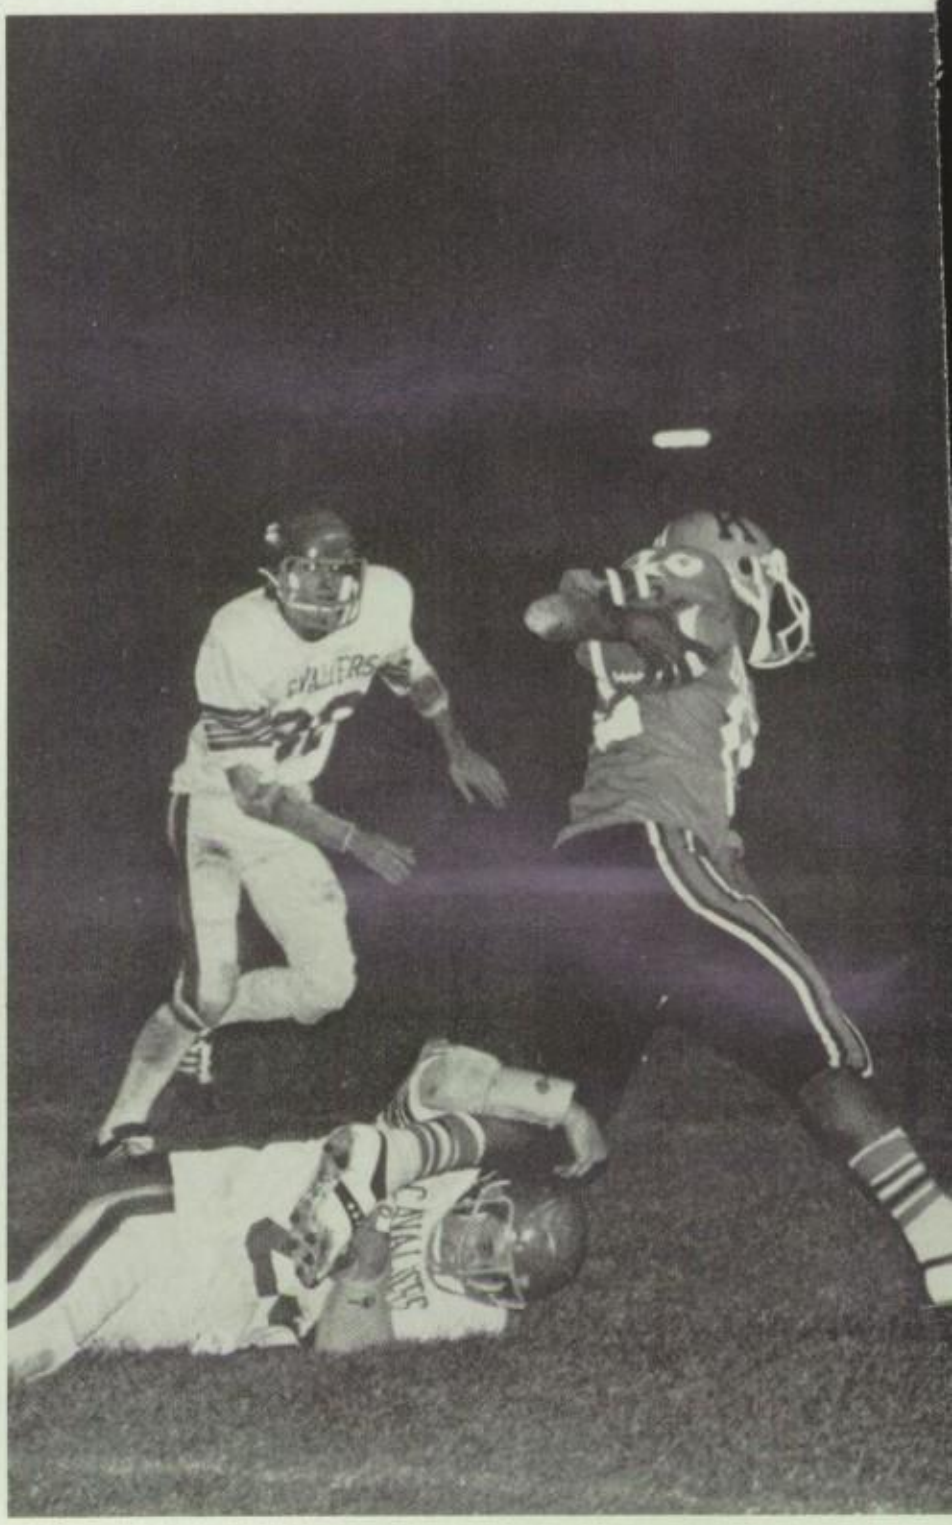
The Stars

Jim Hart crashes through to lead the Mighty Boilermakers onto the field.
Jim Hart, eludes another Cavalier while running toward the end-zone.



Bill Ince tackles a LaSalle-Peru Cavalier after an incomplete pass.

In the fall of 1977 the varsity football "Steam Machine" fought for a winning record. The good defensive, and talented offensive plays were responsible for the record of 5 wins and 4 losses. Season figures showed that Kewanee outscored their opponents 184 to 101 points which averaged to slightly more than a 9 point advantage per game. Playing in rain and mud, the Boiler Machine would lose steam, but thanks to the good coaching, spirited team, and all of the "super" fans, the Boiler Machine posted their second straight winning season. Kewanee High School was honored in 1977, as James Hart, Bill Ince, and Brent Majeske made the all N.C.I.C. conference team. Kewanee High was also honored by the four N.C.I.C. honorable mentions, John Wilson, Bruce Hadsall, Mark Mikenas, and Tom Iorio.

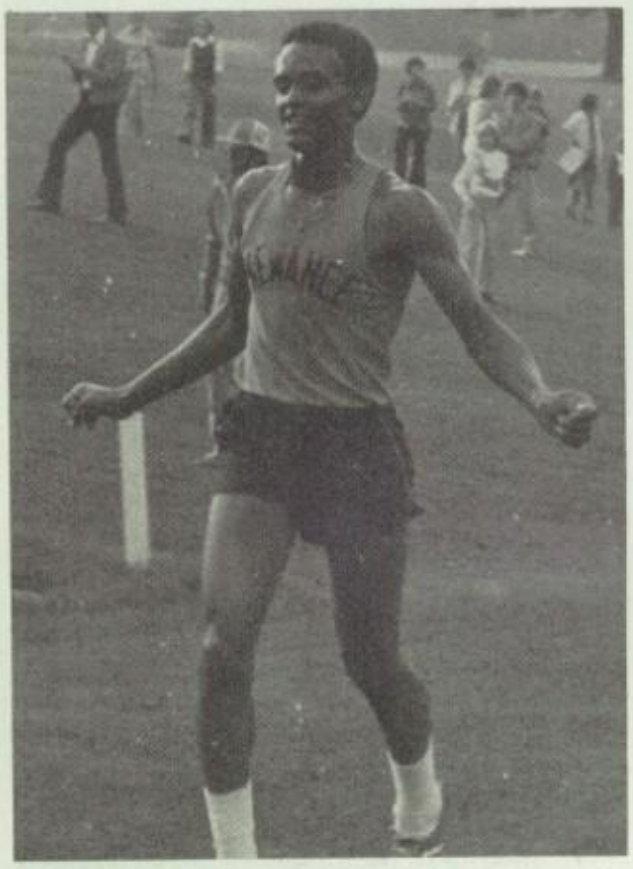
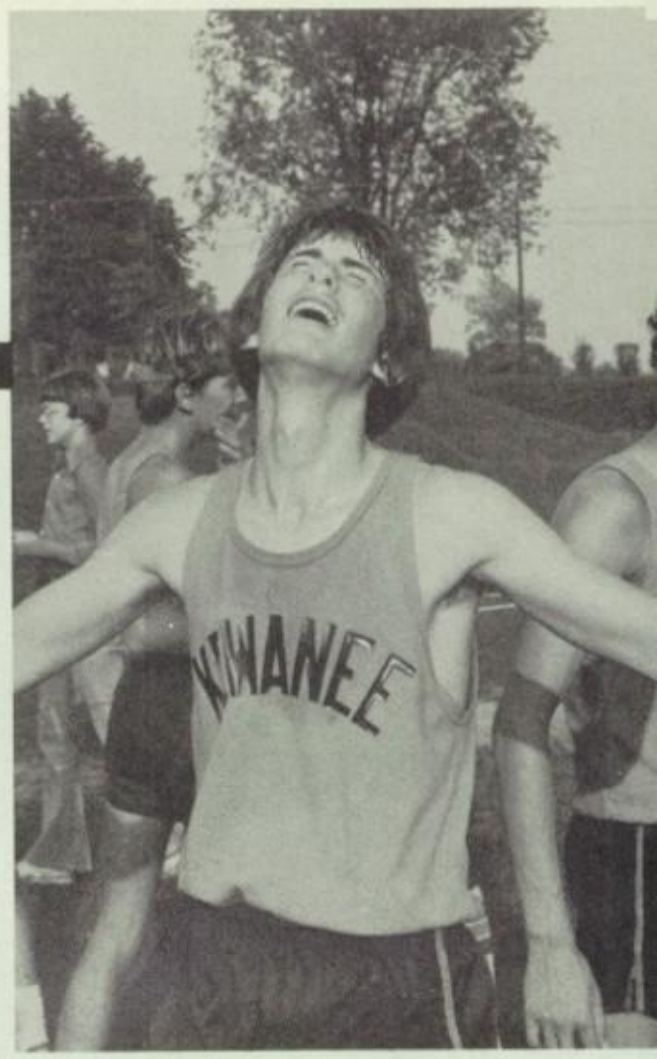
Making Tracks

1978 was another great year for the Cross Country team. Coach Vincent and co-captains Steve Whetstone and Steve Anderson showed the area teams that Kewanee was not to be taken lightly. As early as Labor Day weekend, the KHS CC team took second place in the Canton Tournament. The top five runners consistently finished in the upper half of each race. One of these top runners was Joshua Israel, a first-year varsity runner, who was often KHS's fastest thinclad.





An exhausting race is finally finished by Scott Mighell.

Girls Luv Tennis

1978 meant both a new coach and new uniforms for the girls' tennis team. The bright outfits are orange and white with orange bloomers. The girls improved their skills and games with the help of Mrs. Blake. To determine the top players, a round robin tournament was held. The girls challenged one another for practice and a chance at a higher rank.

The girls are never assured a spot for any length of time. The girls are considered very tough competition, since they have beaten some of the biggest schools in the district. The netters have earned respect in the conference and have established themselves as another tough team from Kewanee High School.

A newcomer to KHS Mrs. Blake coached the successful girls' tennis team.

Mr. Lazar checks over the golf scores.

Joe Tavares' attention is distracted during a golf meet.

The 1977-78 golf squad had one of the best seasons in many years, under the coaching of Adam Lazar. Playing against tough state ranked teams such as Galesburg and Rock Falls, KHS showed they were even better. One of the biggest highlights of the year was when Kewanee came from behind and beat defending NCIC champ Princeton. As usual, Kewanee placed high in the NCIC and District meets. Although the golf squad may lose many good seniors at graduation, the underclassmen will make next year's golf team another contender for the state title.

Girl's Dig Volleyball

Nothing is as exciting as girls' volleyball.

This year the girls' volleyball team, under Coach Tocha, faced rebuilding. In their first game of the season they finished 4th in the first Henry County Volleyball Tournament. This year there were three changes. A varsity and frosh-soph team like the boys' sports were used instead of the A and B teams. Girls' volleyball now has a class A and AA with the season starting in the fall before basketball. Since most of the girls had never played volleyball, only "Jungle-ball," they spent a good deal of time practicing the bump, set, and spike.

Talented And Outstanding

Without much difficulty, Kami Lindbeck has clearly got the jump ball.

Talent, training, teamwork, and Tocha, all added up to a successful season for the girls basketball team, as they tried to top last year's Sweet 16 record. Unfortunately, a lot of those players were lost at graduation last year. But the team gained real support from the incoming freshmen and went ahead to a super season of basketball. Their winning starters and excellent players made the games both fun and fulfilling for Kewanee fans. Next year's team will have to be super in order to top this year's "GBB" team.

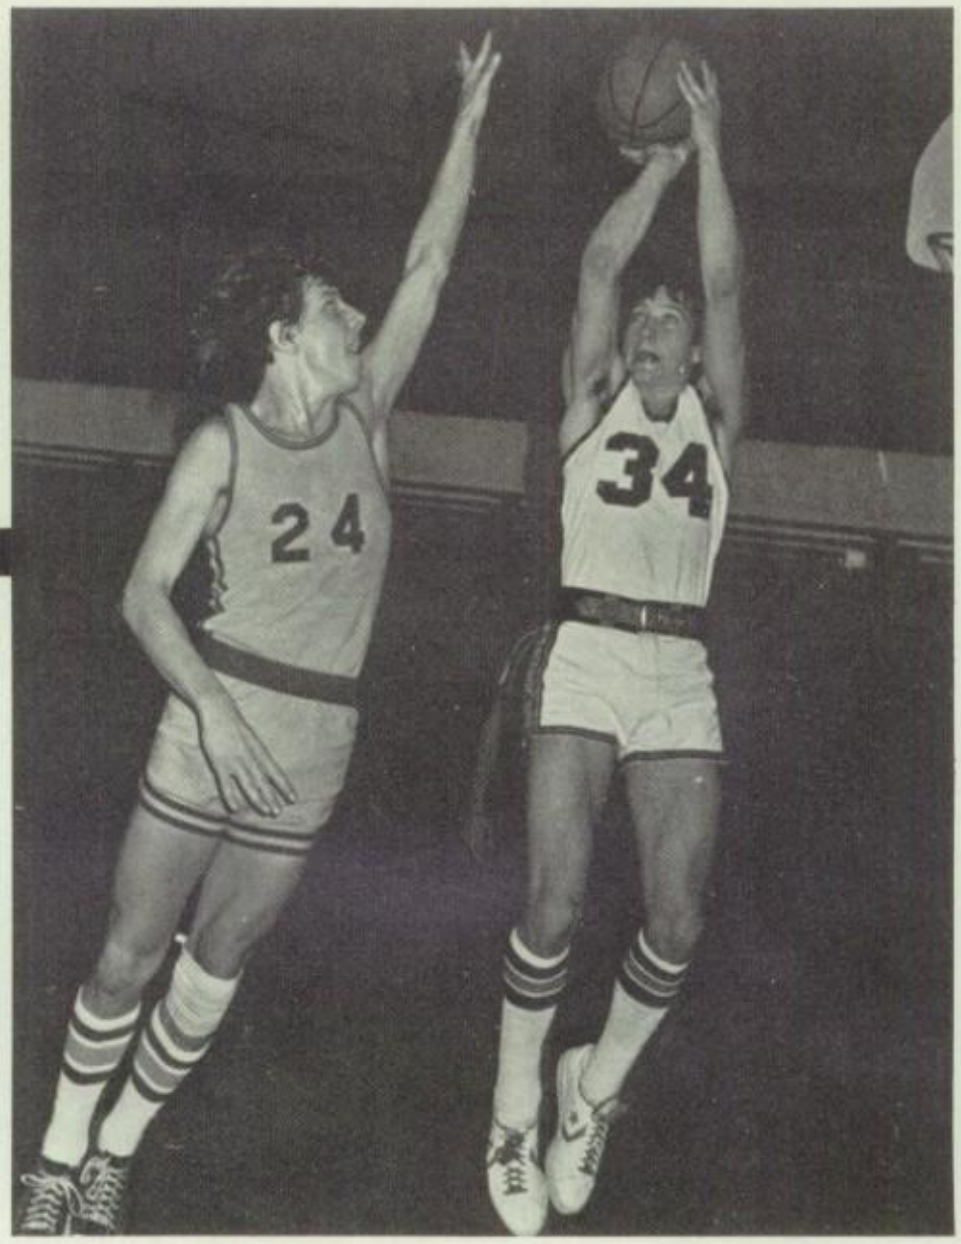
"81" Proves To Be Promising

The jump. The slam-dunk. Two points. The freshman basketball team moves about the court, exciting the crowds with rebounds and out-of-bounds. The tension mounts as the score ties then passes as the buzzer sounds. It is the end of the game, and another victory for the KHS Frosh team. KHS is proud of its freshman team and showed its pride with crowds and assemblies resounding with cheers for the team's victories.



Late in the game, Marty Stewart attempts a difficult 30-footer.

RIVETERS MAKE HISTORY

Making a spectacular recovery from football, the Riveters charged ahead during the basketball season. Though an almost impossible task, the Sophomores continually improved their perfect record. Mr. Mike Kirkham, returning as coach, sparked the spirit of the Riveters which shone so clearly when they played. They had natural teamwork and abilities making this the best Riveter season in many years. The crowds accumulated earlier than usual for the basketball games, so they could watch the action of the Sophomores beating another team. Their record was one which will hopefully be repeated by them and other Kewanee teams in the future years.

RUNNING JUMPING SHOOTING AND SCORING

One of the "Mighty Boilermakers" fights for the jump ball.

Going for a crucial point, Tronnald Dunaway makes a careful shot from the free throw line.

This year's varsity basketball squad was one of the biggest crowd pleasers. Their speed and ability were just a part of their many talents. With endurance and agility, they never gave up the fight during any games. Though not all games were won, the point margin was often within ten and, usually, within five.

KHS did not have the tallest team in the conference; but the players made up for this with double figure scoring averages and high jumping abilities to get the rebounds and block opponents' shots. Coach Edleman made sure that they continually improved through the season by having daily practices, even through Christmas vacation when the Macomb Tournament was held. These young men worked hard and it showed in their games. Without a good game to see, the crowds would never have come.

Pinning Down A Good Season

The slap of a hand could be heard against the mat as a Kewanee wrestler pinned another opponent. The formula that was described above happened many times during the season. After several years of absence, Mr. Taylor coached the Varsity wrestlers, once again. The Frosh-Soph squad was coached by Mr. VanNieuwenhuyse. To prove that they were capable of being victorious contenders, the Frosh-Soph squad pinned down the Galva Tournament. To improve their record of last season, the disciplined Varsity had worked diligently and showed just what their wrestling talents were.

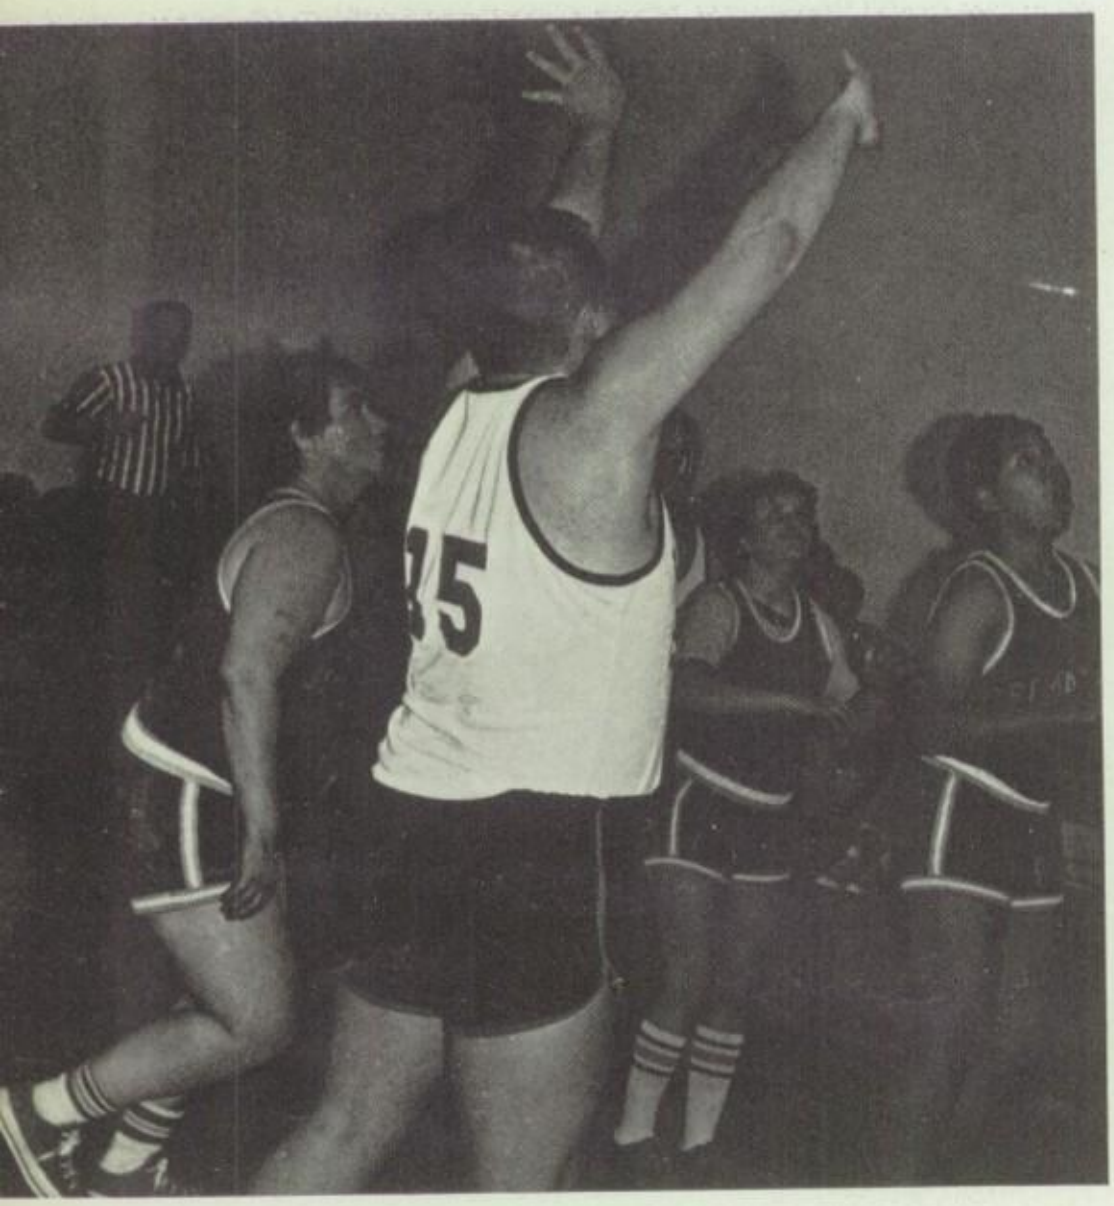
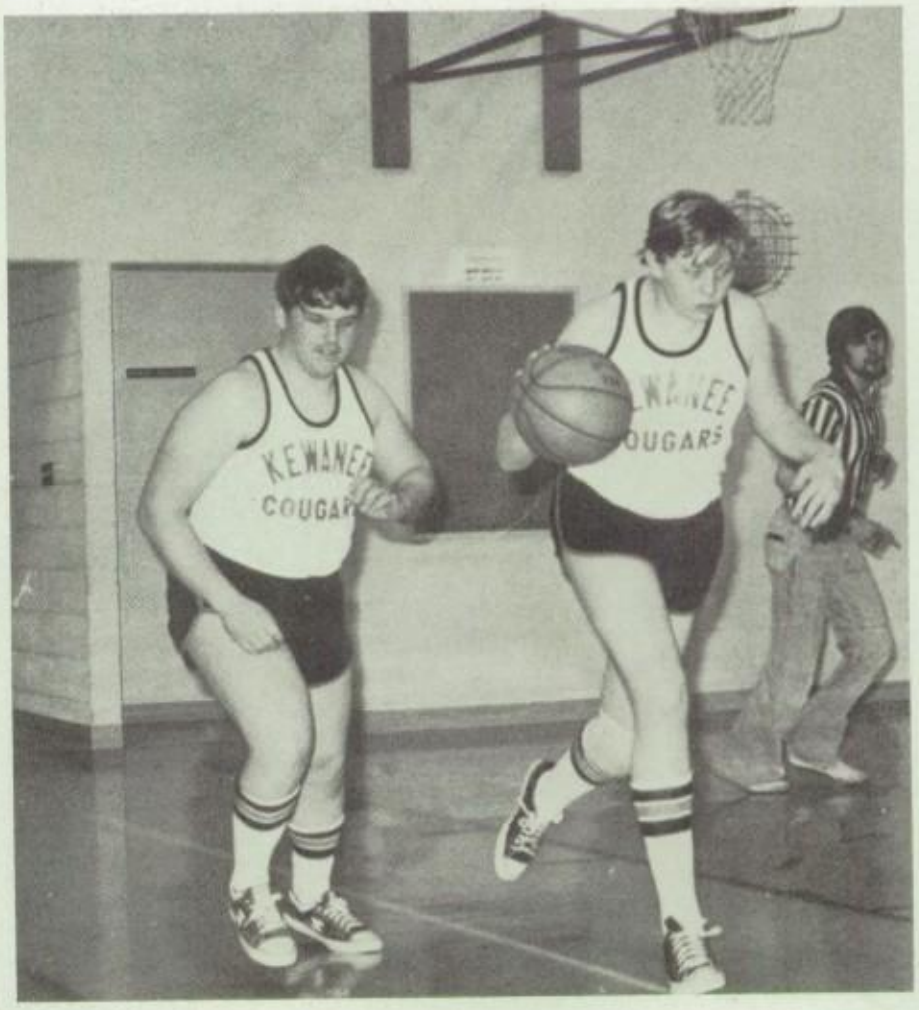
Cougars Come Through Great

Starting the year early, the Cougars formed their first softball team. Playing many schools in the area, they posted a terrific record for a first season. Not having much time to prepare, the Cougars opened another basketball season. As usual, they had a winning record and participated in the state tournament. When spring came around, the Cougars were out beating teams on the track. To make money to sponsor their sports, the Courgars made and sold pens and posters. KHS is proud to have the Cougars as a fine part of the school.

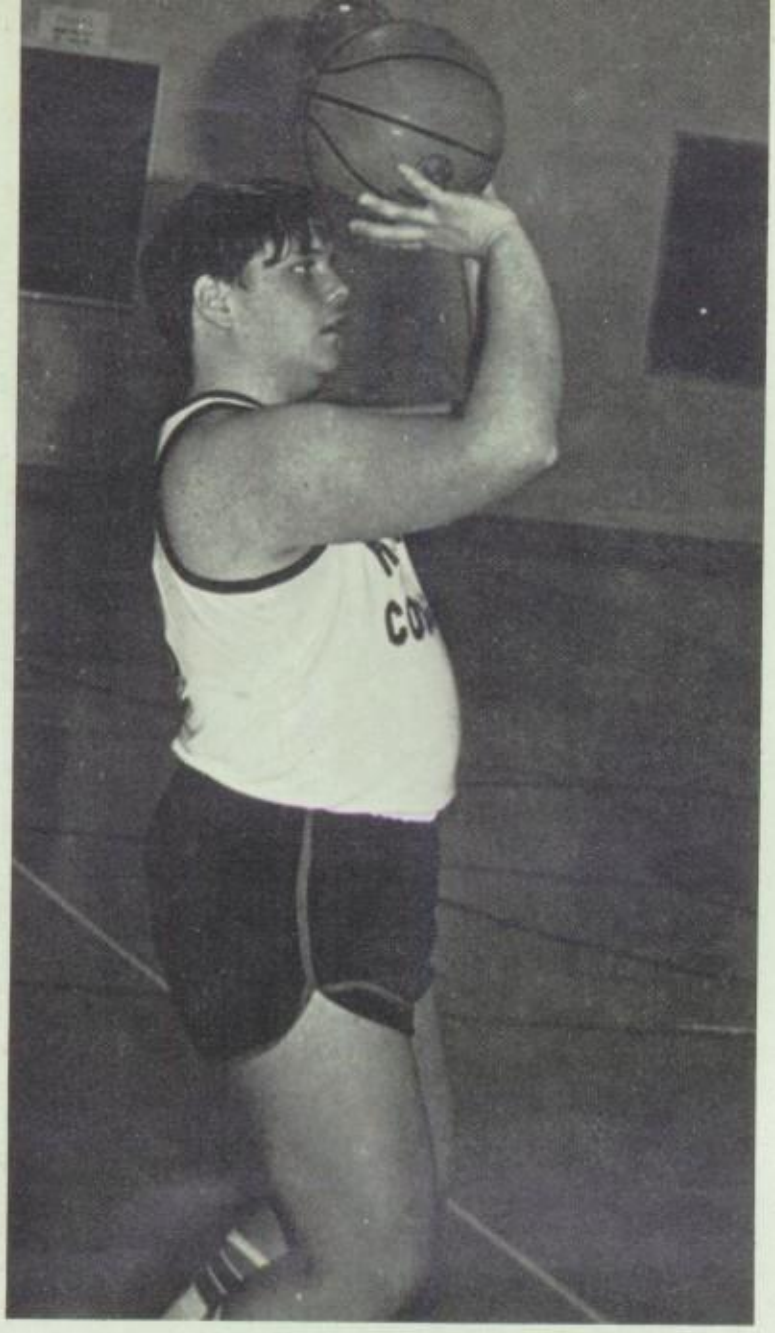
Kneeling: Sherry Squires; Larry Verdict; Paul Williams; Jerry Carlson; Gary Johnson; Dawn Workheiser, Standing: Bruce Barnes; Joel Jorgenson; Chuck Nelson; Ron Brown; Martin Eckhardt; Coach Warren.





Chuck Nelson keeps control of the ball as Martin Eckhardt insures that he does.

Joel Jorgenson makes a basket to earn some more valuable points.



Standing in a corner of the court, Martin Eckhardt takes a long shot.

Chuck Nelson and Martin Eckhardt hurry down the court to make a basket.

With a high toss, Paul Williams in bounds the ball.

Leading Boiler Pride

Cheering in the rain . . . decorating the halls . . . buying new NCIC pennants for the gym . . . selling popcorn jars for fund raising . . . leading the students in cheers early in the morning . . .

The life of a cheerleader is exhilarating. Each squad attended camp last summer, and each squad returned with new cheers. The Cross-Country cheerleaders received high ratings at their camp at Augustana College, while the Riveters gained valuable experience and knowledge at the Bradley University camp. Attending camp at Platteville, Wisconsin, the varsity cheerleaders received the coveted spirit stick. Assemblies were exciting and full of spirit, with the KHS cheerleaders leading the student body throughout the 77-78 school year.

Mark,
Have fun this summer. You're a real funny guy! I would call you neat, but that wouldn't be original.
See ya around.

Keeping in time with the band is easy and the poms keep smiling.

Creating costumes and practicing skits were some of the things the Pom Pon squad did throughout the year. To promote school spirit, the squad sold frisbees, and license plates. Some places the poms performed at were football and basketball games. Many hours of practice were spent working out new routines with complicated dance steps which earned them recognition throughout the community.

TAINERS

Amanda Gerwig smiles as she waits for the music.

National Grand Champion twirlers, Lisa Urquiza and Debbie Nuding.

This year KHS was lucky to have two Grand National twirling champions, Debbie Nuding and Lisa Urquiza. Even before school started, Lisa and Debbie proved themselves by winning a trophy in the Hog Days parade. At one of the pep assemblies, Coach Sanders said, "If our football players could move like the twirlers, we'd be doing pretty good." The twirlers truly added extra sparkle to the events at which they performed.

In preparation for half-time festivities during football, KHS band practices some field movements.

This year the KHS Marching Boilermakers made its debut during the Labor Day Parade under the new direction of Mr. Olsen. Throughout the year, they performed at the half time of both the football and basketball games and participated in many out-of-town parades.

During the winter months the band performed many concerts and proved themselves to be good musicians. The flag girls also got into action by performing intricate routines during the half time shows. Something new that was done this year was participation in the District and NCIC Music Festival. Tim Greenhagen represented Kewanee at District and a dozen more students were selected for NCIC.

One of Angie Ouart's many duties as State Director involves organizing a Region II rally in Dixon.

Mrs. Shafer isn't only the advisor of FHA; she's also the advisor of garment complications.

This year the KHS chapter of FHA held their annual activities, such as the Christmas party for children, the Easter Egg Hunt, Daddy-Date Night, and Salad Supper at the end of the year. To raise money for these benefits and services, FHA held a Spaghetti Supper and sold mums during Homecoming. Other projects consisted of selling Christmas decorations, pocket calendars, and coloring books, throughout the busy school year. Mrs. Shirley Shafer, FHA advisor, accompanied the girls to several rallies during the year. These rallies provided both enjoyment and education. FHA members were able to meet girls from other chapters and learn about a variety of subjects from U.S. history to drug abuse to child care.

"I'd like to call this meeting to order." This could be heard every Tuesday morning in the cafeteria. The Student Council is made up of a Senate, House of Representatives, and Cabinet. One of the council's main activities was Homecoming. Many of the committees were headed by council members. Long hours of organization and preparation were put in to make it a memorable week. Student Exchange and Government Day were also on the main agenda for the council. Money was another important factor. Selling hats, sponsoring Social Hours, and having a Chili Supper, were just a few of the ways the council raised money. During the year the council accomplished many things for the benefit of the student body.

Tomorrow's History

Early deadlines, midnight meetings, and fierce rewrites were just a few of the major headaches faced by the Kewanite staff this year, while trying to publish the 1977-78 yearbook. Never the less, these were also challenges that added an incentive to beat the odds and get the book out on time, a feat that the Kewanite staff did, in fact, achieve. Four major sections were set up to take care of the work: a business staff, taking care of advertisements and finances; a copy staff, writing and editing the text for the yearbook; a layout staff, graphing and blueprinting the layout of pictures and text, on the pages of the book; and a photography staff, taking candids and group shots for the book.

Deadlines were the major problem, with everyone wondering if pages would be ready on schedule: the midnight meetings and rewrites were the direct results of the early deadlines. In spite of the hassles, the Kewanite staff hoped readers would find this year's book one of the best.

Reporting, writing, revising, editing, and printing—each step in releasing a new edition of the K-Chronicle is as important as the next. Co-editors Matt Michalik and Tom Halterman, found out late nights and fierce revisions were all a part of publishing each issue. Starting in September and not ending until May, their work ranged from reporting on the homecoming floats to clarifying points in a controversial editorial.

The business staff, photographers, and reporters all had to contribute their best to keep this year's newspaper going. "Deadline" was a bad word, but the co-editors kept the pace up and reported the news to the students when it was still a hot issue.

Life was never dull for a reporter who had to interview, explain, or judge each situation and tell it like it was. Photographers, too, had to be there to catch the news at its high point.

Throughout the year, the K-Chronicle showed that there was still another reason to be proud of KHS.

FFA had another eventful year. The annual Barnyard Zoo was the usual success during Hog Days. Members of the Kewanee chapter attended various activities, including the national convention in Kansas City, the Mid-Continent Livestock Exposition, and the Food for America Show at the University of Illinois. Students participated in several contests for Parliamentary Procedure, Public Speaking, and Crop Judging. A land judging contest and Section III training school were hosted by the Kewanee Chapter. The annual banquet and chili supper were both successful parts of an exciting year.

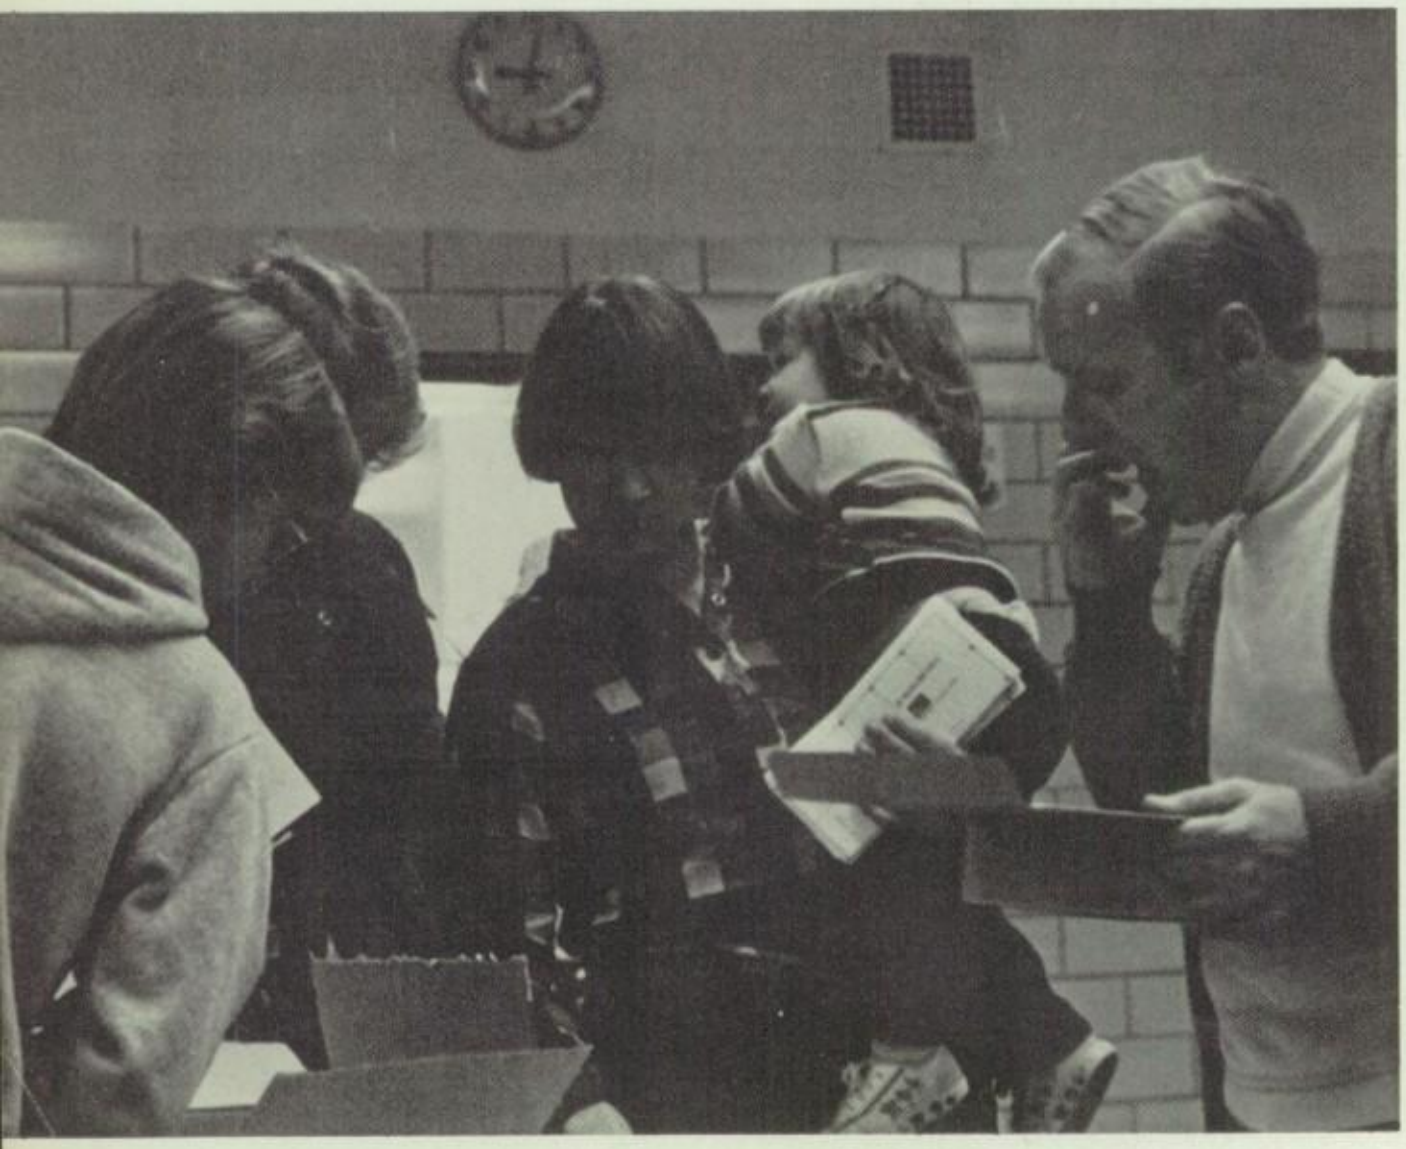
WALK TOGETHER

This year, the AFS club at KHS had been more active than ever. The year began with the arrival of two foreign exchange students, Marie Gronlund from Sweden and Kayoko Hashimoto from Japan. Soon afterwards, the annual pizza sale was held. Students covered the town to sell over 3,200 pizzas and were rewarded with a pizza party afterwards.

An AFS Weekend, something new to Kewanee's chapter, was sponsored this year. Students from the surrounding area attended a KHS basketball game on Friday, followed by a lock-in at the YMCA on Saturday night.

Through all of these activities, the American Field Service's goal of understanding and friendship between people of different countries was achieved.

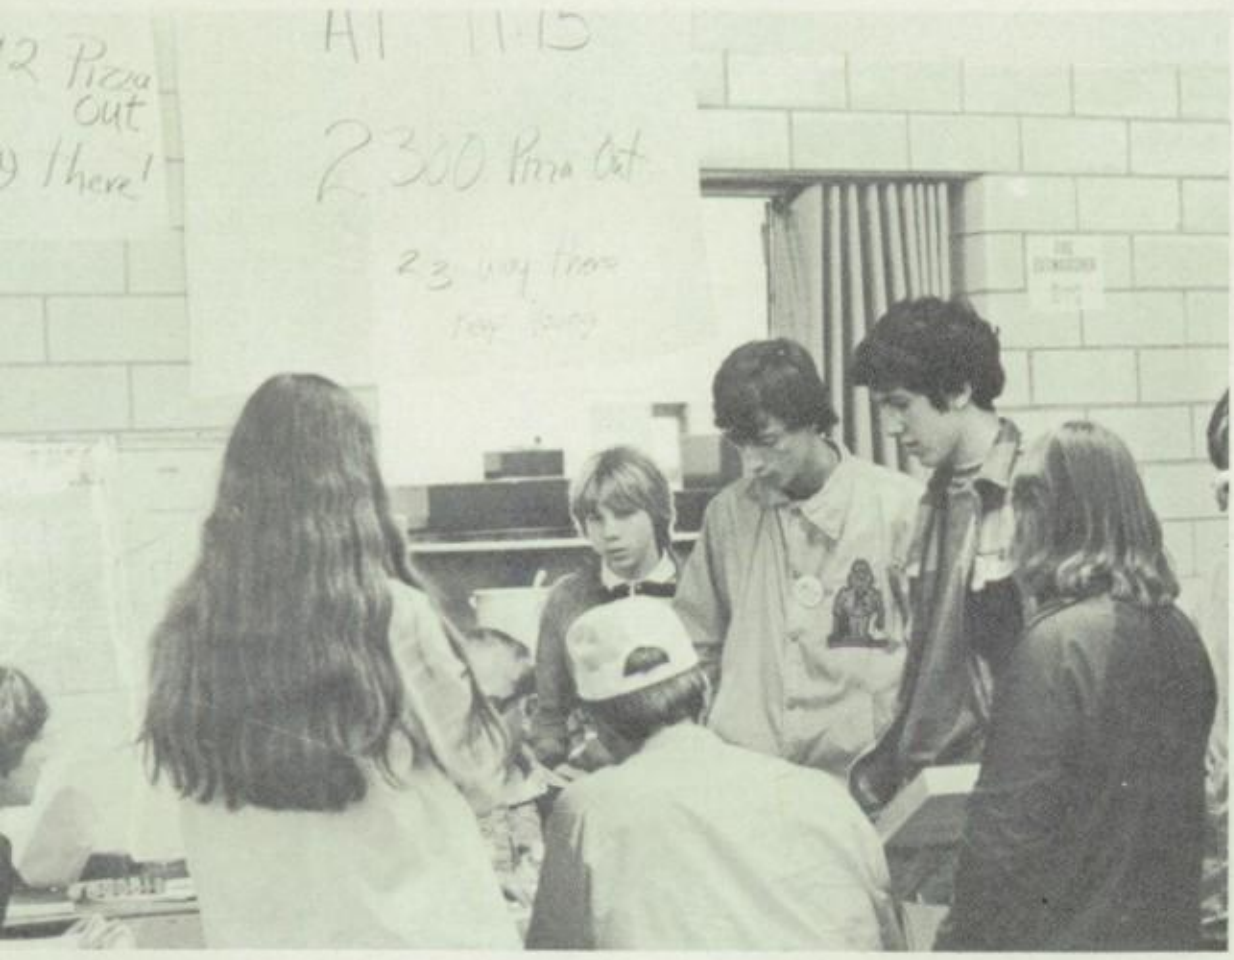
Kathy Heinrich, Penny Larson, and Kim Bucy stop for a refill of pizzas.



Mrs. May and Mr. Fleming distribute area maps to enthusiastic pizza sellers.

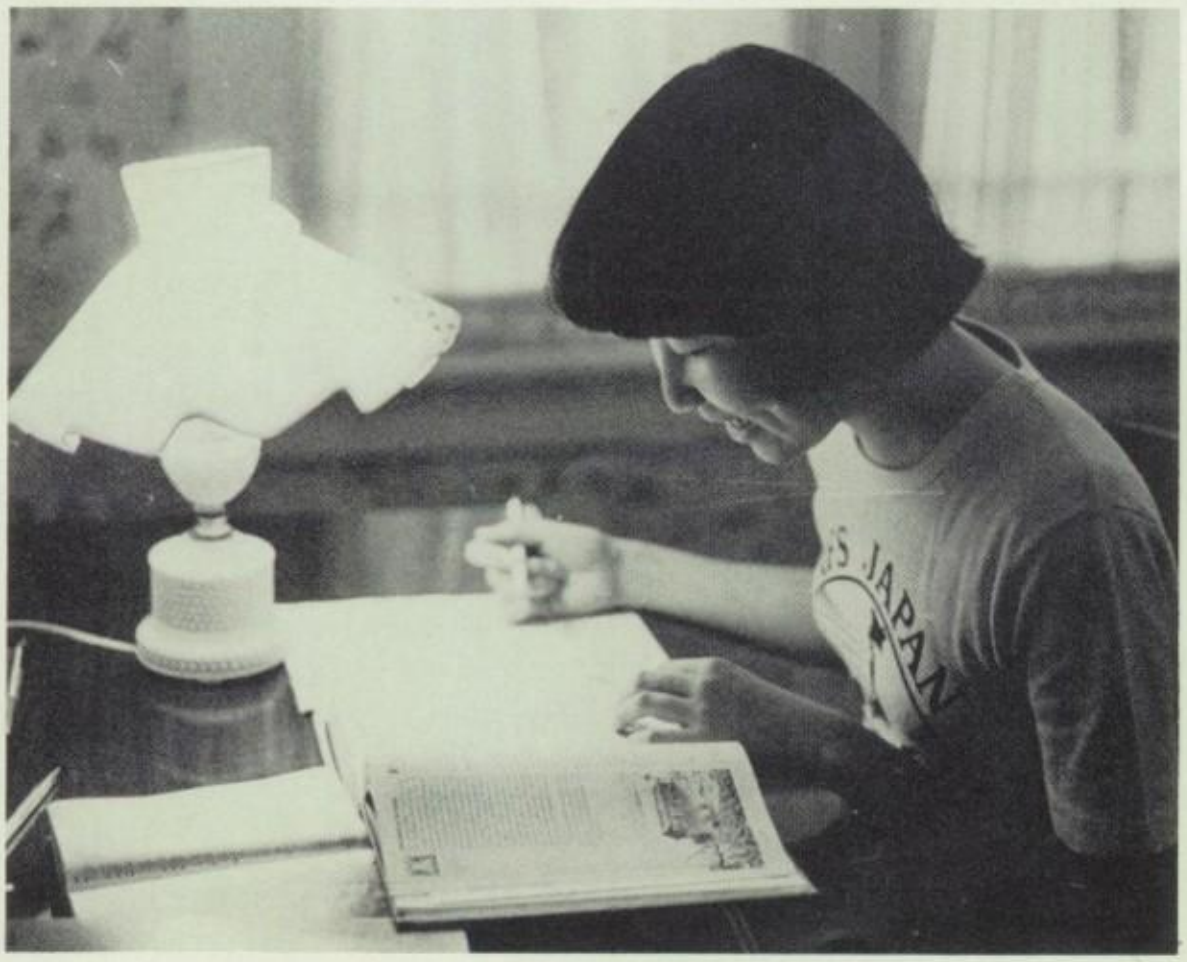
KAYOKO HASHIMOTO, from Isce City, Japan, spent her senior year as an AFS student here at KHS. Though she was new in American school systems, Kayoko certainly knew her subjects well. In P.E., she ran more laps than any other girl. In introductory analysis, she found the answers when no one else could. And in art class, she let her creative abilities come through in her work.

TALK TOGETHER



Returning their money, the pizza salesmen wait to see which team sold the most pizzas.

MARIA GRONLUND, who lives 50 miles north of the Arctic Circle in Gallivare, Sweden, said that Kewanee's weather was actually milder than that of her homeland. And something else different from Maria's school is that KHS has girls' sports, and her former school did not have any. Maria took advantage of this to show her athletic abilities by going out for one of the first sports of the year. Not only did she make the volleyball team, but she was also a varsity member.



Kayoko Hashimoto spends some extra time on U.S. History.

Maria Grönlund loves the outdoors as does her sister, Pam Petersen.

The Library Club provides a learning experience for many future librarians. Under the supervision of Mr. Hoffstetter, the librarians work in their free time and study halls. The librarians had many duties and responsibilities, including checking out books and magazines and making sure they were in the proper order on the shelves. Each month, they compile a list of all the new books available to the students. They also had many other responsibilities in running the library which they did efficiently.

Forensics—a combination of speech and debate. These two clubs through the coaching of Mr. McKee, compete and debate at meets throughout the state. Speech consists of many things, like humorous interpretation and extemporaneous speaking. The students involved in this club must dig up material and spend long hours to achieve perfect expression and memorization. The debators are given a controversial issue at the beginning of the year and find information both pro and con on the subject. At each debate, they do not know which side they will have to defend until just before the competition begins. Therefore, they must be well versed on the topic. Kewanee has always been known as tough competition and was, again, this year.

Mr. McKee warns freshmen debators never to bring up new arguments in the rebuttal.

Caring: Our Way of Life

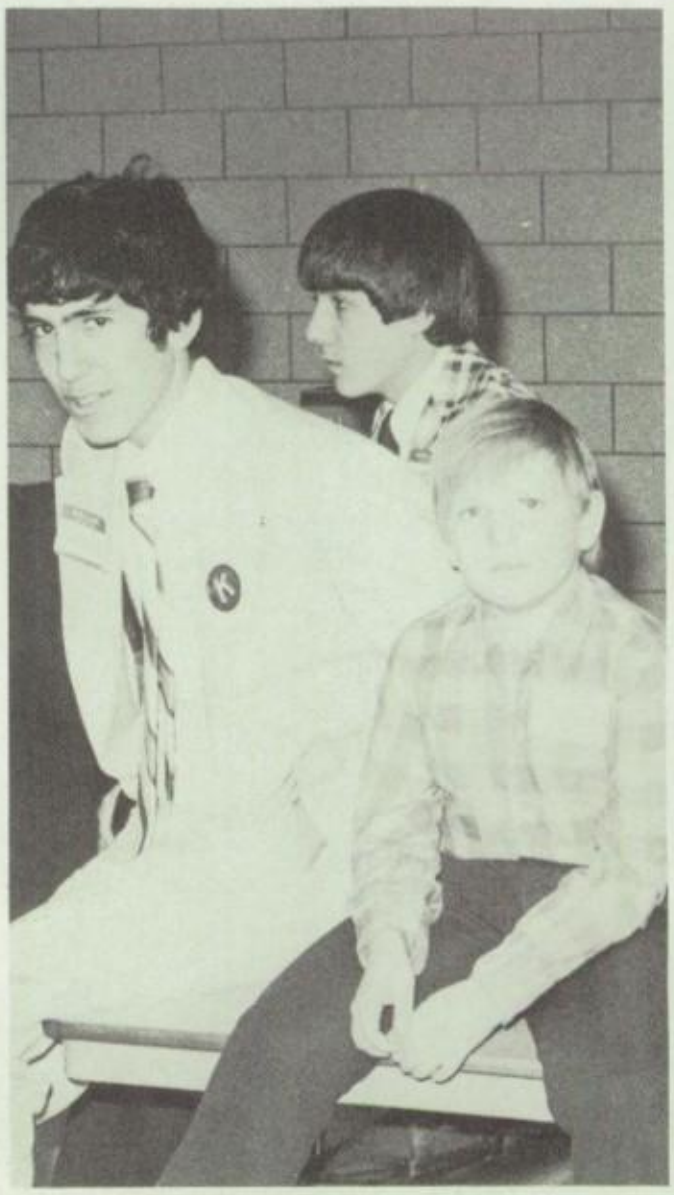
Bruce Alvarado entertains his little guest.



A unique feeling of satisfaction is acquired by being an active member of a service organization, such as, Key Club. The members of Key Club worked to make Kewanee and KHS a happier place for all. During the year they sponsored a Christmas party for the children and collected canned goods for the Christmas baskets distributed by Good Fellows. To entertain the students on nights when no other extra-curricular activity was scheduled, Key Clubbers showed movies in the auditorium, such as, the Three Stooges.

One way in which Key Club raised funds was to sell calendars with three girls representing each class and one girl for each month. However, in one instance, twins were on the same page. They used part of this money to sponsor the Mid-winter dance at KHS and to send Christmas cards to the teachers.

Key Club does many activities that few people know about. This helps add to the feeling of satisfaction.

ASSISTING TEACHERS IN THEIR WORK

Grading papers, making up tests, and typing dittos are all a part of being a teacher. This year, FTA members were introduced to quite a bit of what teachers do. By grading papers and doing some typing. The teachers' aids helped the teachers out with their duties. In March, a free day was given up to help out at a Henry-Stark County Teachers Institute. By the end of the year, the FTA members began to wonder how a teacher could keep organized with all they have to do. All-in-all, the teachers' aids learned a lot and enjoyed themselves doing so.

After grading some tests, Liz LaRusch, FTA President, transfers scores to the grade book.

MORE THAN MUSIC

Singing, raising money and practicing long hours were some of the things members of the KHS choir did throughout the year. This year a new addition was made to the vocal music department, a sixty member concert choir. This choir, attired in new robes, represented KHS at the State Music Contest in April. Besides going to contest they also performed at concerts and gave performances to various clubs and organizations throughout the year. The special attraction was, once again, the KHS Swing Choir. The twenty-four member group made its first public appearance at the Talent Show during Hog Days. At State Music contest in March the group followed up two years of number one ratings with a terrific performance. During the year the Swing Choir had approximately thirty performances. In order for these performances to go off well, many early morning and late night hours were spent working out the music and choreography. All-in-all, Mr. Olsen made the vocal music department a recognized and respected group in the community.

Developing skills, learning a new sport, and staying physically fit were just some of the reasons why people joined GAA. Still another reason was to meet new friends and share fun times. One of the more popular activities was Fun Night. On this night, a volleyball tournament was held for any students who wanted to come and participate. During the year a Mom's Night and Initiation were held for the girls to receive their first award. Later in the year a banquet was also held to initiate the new officers for the next year and to hand out the remainder of the awards.

Brian Kelley puts the finishing touches on another Christmas window.

Painting windows, printing programs and making signs were some of the projects accomplished by this year's Art League. Fun times were shared as league members busily went about the annual task of painting Christmas scenes on windows for the local businesses. Printing programs kept members occupied as the choir concerts and class plays came and slipped by again along with the rest of the year. And sign making continued throughout most of the year with the passing of Homecoming, Midwinter, and Prom. Funds to finance trips to art museums were raised this year by members working at two concession stands, a bake sale, and selling fruitcakes over the holidays.

While many clubs had difficulty thinking of activities to do, the Bi-Phy-Chem Club never seemed to have enough time to do all of their activities. The first trip was a Saturday excursion to Chicago to visit the Museum of Science and Industry, where students had a good time and learned a lot. At Christmas, the trip was to Augustana to the planetarium there. A star show was presented that introduced a few new theories to the members of the science club. Other field trips included the spring trip in April, which lasted an entire weekend. Science is a fun subject, and the Bi-Phy-Chem Club enjoyed their learning experience this year.

SMILE! . . .

Flash! Click! Flash! . . . This was the scene at all of the major dances, as the Kamera Klub was busy providing many a memory for KHS students. One new addition was the taking of color photographs at Homecoming and Midwinter dances. Through a poll the Kamera Klub decided on this "first" for KHS. Upperclassmen and Underclassmen both had their dance pictures taken in color, a privilege originally for upperclassmen at the prom.

The Kamera Klub also provided students with darkroom experience and photography techniques. Working with the Bi-Phy-Chem Club, Kamera Klub made a trip to the Museum of Science and Industry, in the fall of 1977. Kamera Klub, working with a very large group, made various other trips, and tackled many other products during the year. Under the watchful eye of Mr. Malcolm, Kamera Klub was a source of fun, work, knowledge, and experience for students.

Home Economics Related Occupations is more than another work program class. Students in the HERO classes learn about budgeting, job interviews, and taxes. So the students could learn about their work, daily notebooks were kept. Through the year, students took tours through several area businesses and were told how these businesses operated and how employees should treat customers. While receiving a good education, the students gained valuable work experience, useful in the coming years.

V.I.C.A. Learns Responsibility

The motto of the Vocational Industrial Clubs of America is "Preparing for Leadership in the World of Work!" The Kewanee chapter of VICA reaches for this goal each year through the work program classes. VICA prepares students to take their places in the working world after graduation. Leadership, enthusiasm, workmanship, and ethics are all developed in this club. VICA helps students establish realistic vocational goals. It also creates a better understanding of labor and management and develops the student's ability to work with others. In these ways, VICA prepares students to take their place in the world outside.

Major K's And Letter Sweaters

With increased girls sports, there have been more girls receiving major K's. So, this year, the girls were able to join Letterman's Club. These Lettermen not only bought white letter sweaters for all the team captains, but they, along with the Girls Athletic Association, sponsored Mom's Night at the Princeton basketball game. Before the game, the mothers of the basketball players and cheerleaders were presented with carnations and announced with their son or daughter in front of the home fans. Even though there was a change in the people involved in Letterman's Club, they still performed many of the same functions they have in the past.

A trip to Washington, D.C.—the dream of a lifetime. The members of the Government Club fulfilled that dream this year, thanks to a national program called "Close-Up." Last year, four people went, including Mr. Lock. This year, he formed the Government Club solely for the purpose of raising money for another trip to Washington. Money-raising schemes ranged from selling candy bars to asking for contributions from the community. The members of the group raised enough money to go and embarked, in high spirits, on their week's journey. While there, they met and talked with members of Congress, including senators and representatives from Illinois. They met President Carter at the White House and debated on current issues in the Rose Garden. Next year, Mr. Lock intends to continue the club in hopes of taking more juniors and seniors to Washington, D.C.

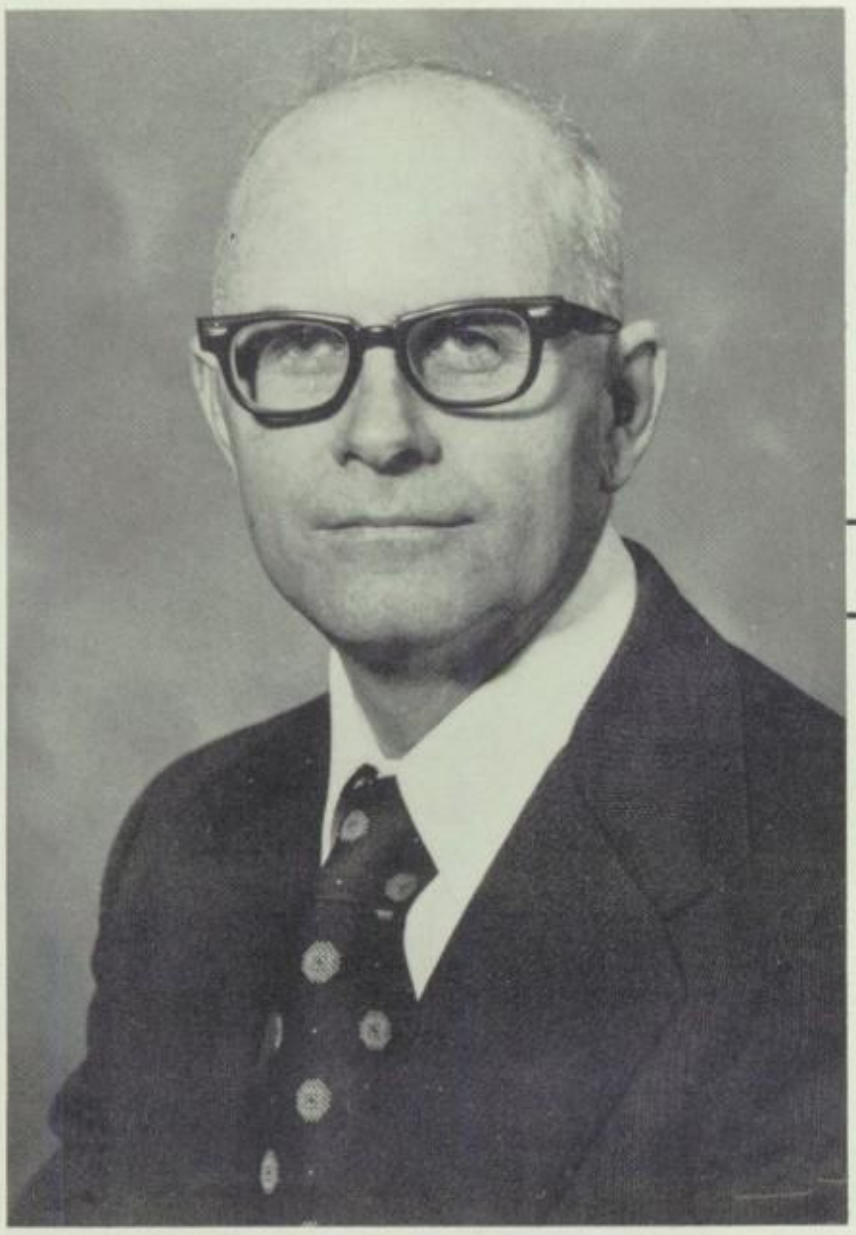
ADMINISTRATION AND CLASSES

The Foundation

Superintendent of Schools: Mr. James Golby.

Administrative Secretaries: Mrs. Melchin, Mrs. Collins, Mrs. Sullivan, Mrs. Golden.

Of District 229



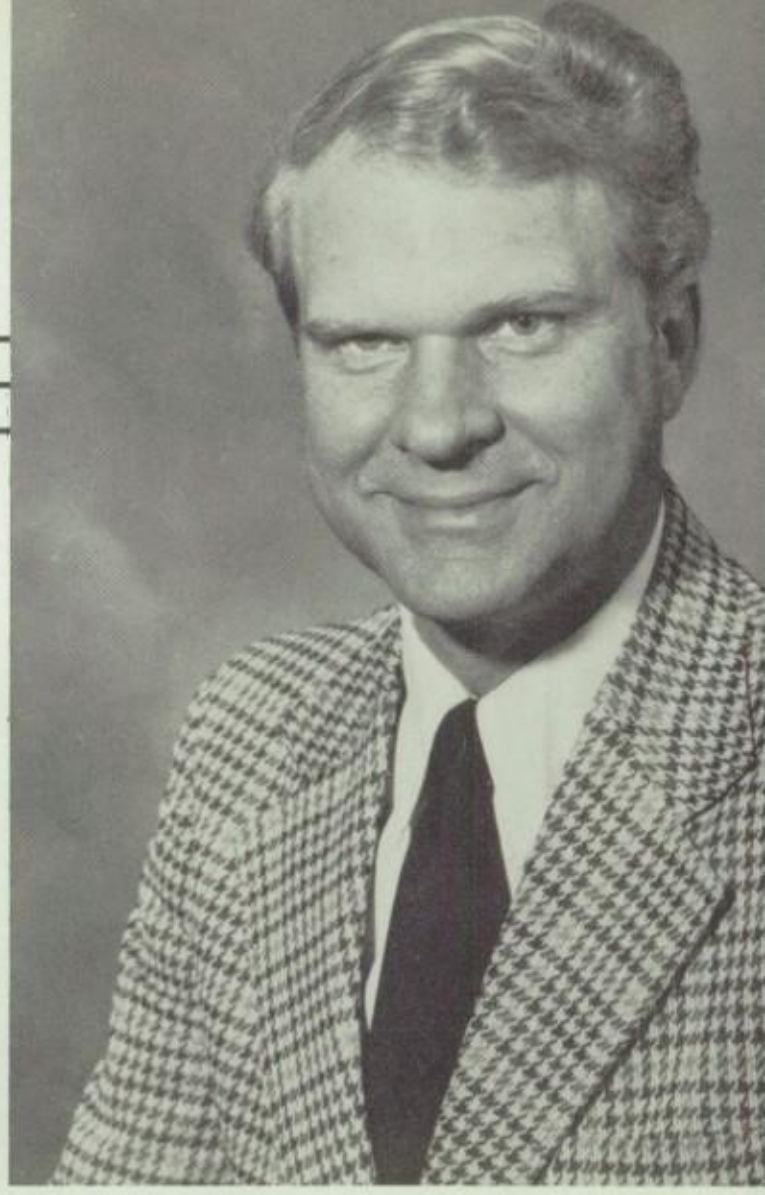
Assistant Superintendent of Schools: Mr. Kenneth Sullens

Running a school is no easy task. It takes a capable principal to make things run smoothly. Whether it is trouble with the students or with the building, Mr. Marvin Damron is always ready to work out the problems.

Running a school is a big job, but running an entire school district is an even greater one. The men responsible for this task are Assistant Superintendent, Mr. Kenneth Sullens, and Superintendent of schools, Mr. James Golby. All the complaints and problems of the entire district land on their desks. Though the load is a heavy one, they manage to handle all the details.

School Board Members: Mr. Robert Petersen; Mr. John Rodak, Secretary; Mr. Martin Hepner, President; Mr. Charles Summers. Standing: Mr. Raymond G. Hanson, Jr.; Mrs. Daisy Gerwig; Mr. John Spets.

Principals Play A Vital Role



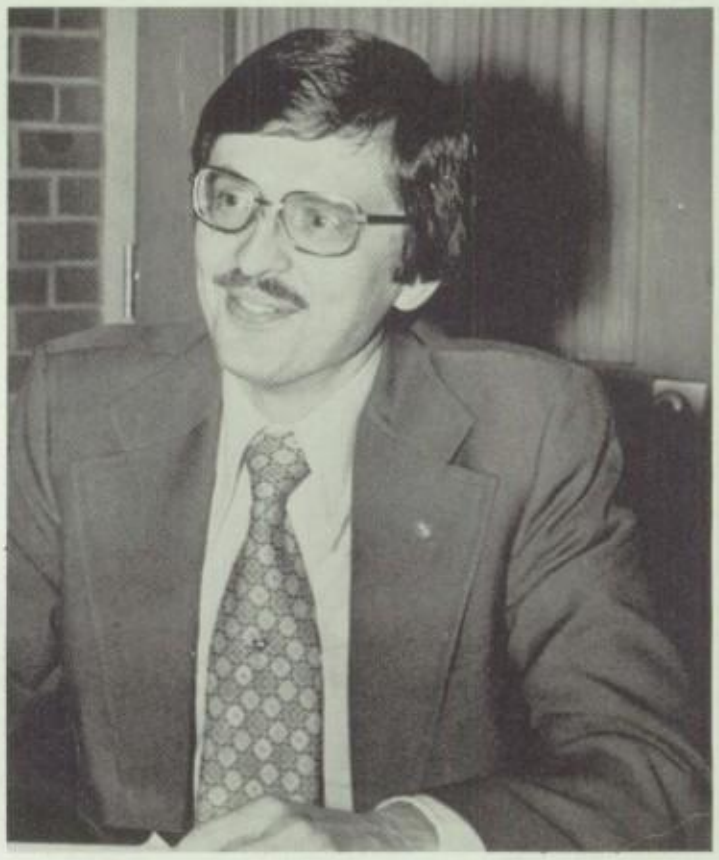
Kewanee High School Principal: Mr. Marvin Damron.

Administrative Assistant to the Principal: Miss Stella Pletkovich.

KHS is proud to have Mr. Damron as principal. Each year he sets a standard of excellence for the students and faculty and each year, we try to exceed that standard.

His duties of running a school weigh heavy and to help him with the responsibilities are Miss Stella Pletkovich, a woman with ceaseless energy and stamina, and Mr. Amron Buchanan, a very active man with a vast store of knowledge and creativity. Also aiding Mr. Damron is Mr. Emmerit Lindbeck. As Associate Dean of Students, he is on a direct line with the students.

Each of these people are able to deal with the great deal of paperwork and responsibilities given to them each day. KHS is indeed proud to have them at our school.



Administrative Assistant to the Principal: Mr. Amron Buchanan.

Associate Dean of Students: Mr. Emmerit Lindbeck.

Solving The School's Problems

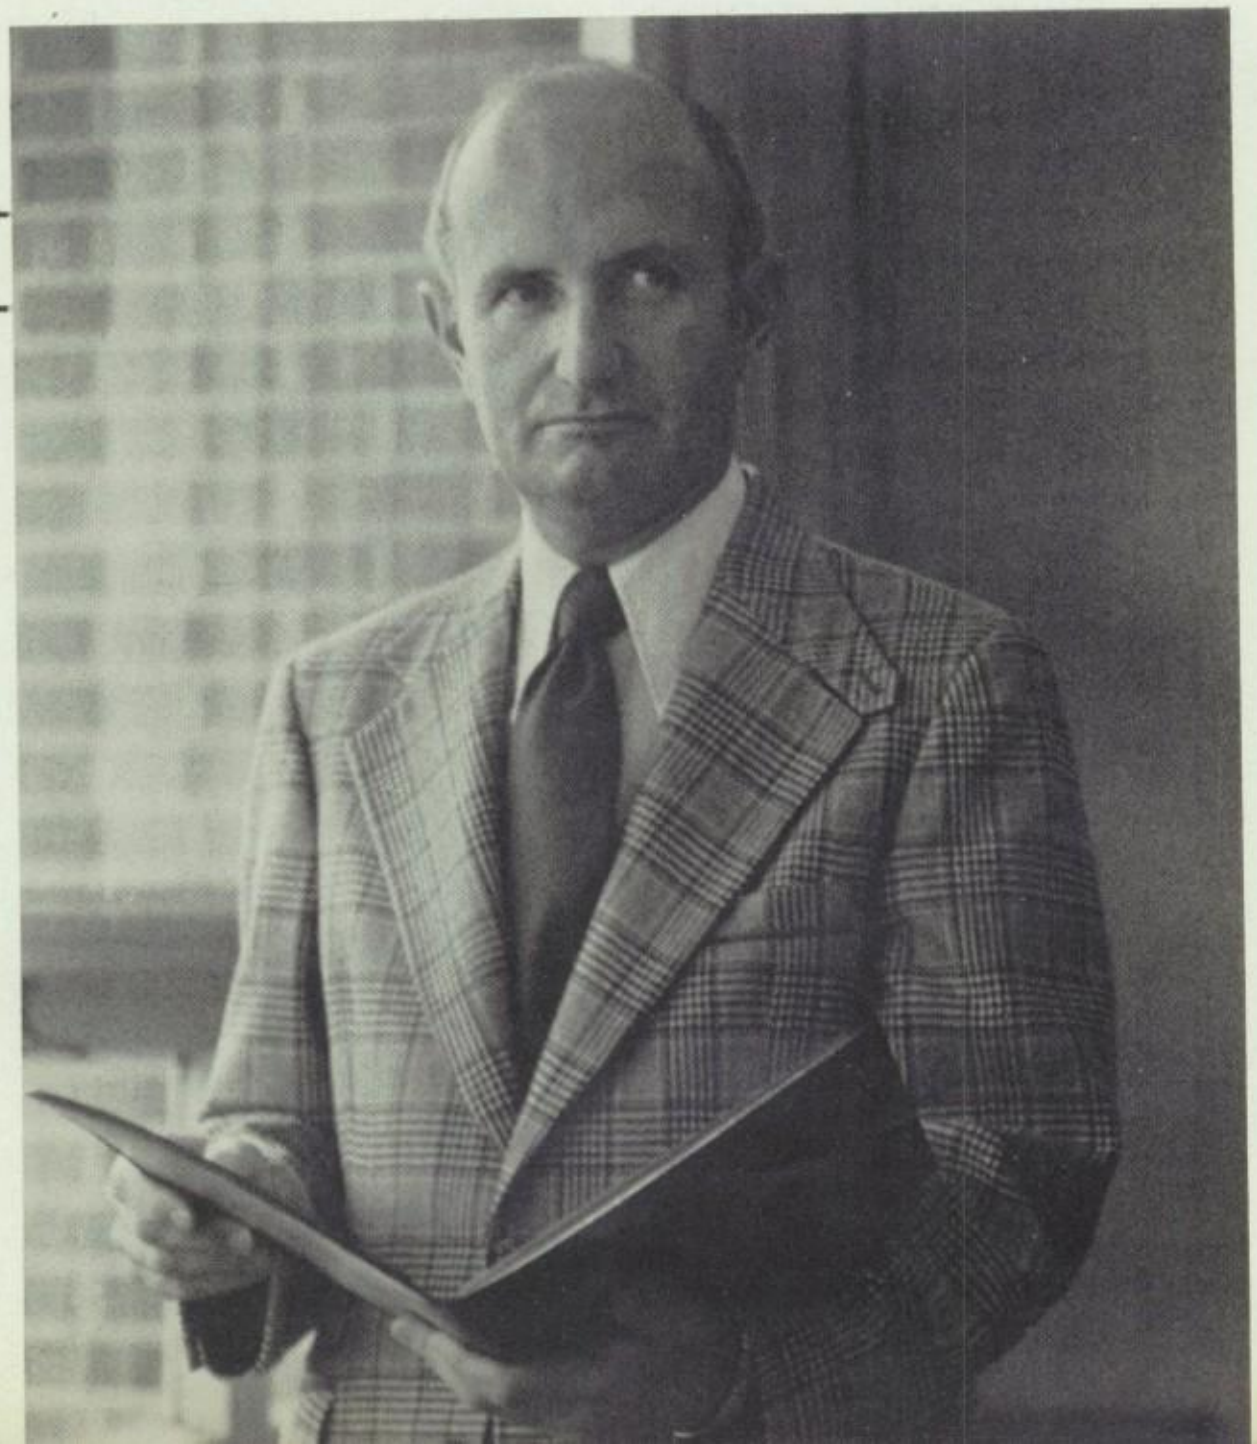
Superintendent James Golby devotes much of his time solving problems presented to him at Student Advisory Board meetings.



Once a month, members of the classes met with the superintendent, Mr. Golby, at Central school. These meetings were of the Student Advisory Board of Kewanee High School. After a pleasant lunch, the students discussed problems and issues current at KHS. Mr. Golby sought answers to their questions and suggested alternatives. The smooth running of Kewanee High School was proof of the success of the Students Advisory Board this year.

Taking care

The job of a secretary is one of utter chaos. Besides doing the basic jobs of a secretary like typing, filing, and answering phones, our secretaries were kept busy with many other tasks. Issuing date passes, organizing transcripts, and selling art supplies, were just a few of the jobs the secretaries did to keep KHS running smooth. The administration and faculty would not have been able to function efficiently without these dedicated ladies in the office.

As the day begins Mrs. Daniels greets the students.

Mrs. McKenna pauses as she tries to track down another bus driver.

Mrs. Bral smiles as she asks the question "where were you during Study Hall?"

Miss Hoose checks a student's transcript for errors before sending it on to a college.

of business

Looking up from some student files, Mrs. Brokaw answers a question for Mr. Buchanan.

As one of her many duties, Mrs. Brown orders more art supplies.

Mrs. Lay believes in work, which is why she is smiling as she checks a new book list.

Mrs. Heise smiles as she answers a student librarian's question; it's nice to know all the answers.

After a busy day in the ag office, Mrs. Nuding still knows how to give a beaming smile.

Mel Timmerman keeps a watchful eye out for any student who might try to go beyond the designated lunch area.

Custodial Staff: Emma Dennis; Carol VanDeRostyne; Earl Klavohn; Mel Timmerman; Judy Pettis.

Cooking, Cleaning, and Transporting

Dedication is the chief quality of personnel at Kewanee High School. The bus drivers continued their routes through heavy snows, even if it meant leaving early and coming back late. Once, Mr. Wallace slid down a hill backwards. Another time, Mr. Bennett was stranded in his bus until 7 pm.

Throughout the year, the cafeteria staff managed to prepare hot meals for over 900 students and teachers at KHS.

Accomplishing an almost impossible feat, the custodial staff kept the entire school cleaned up each day . . . even after celebrations like Homecoming. These wonderful people, the personnel staff of KHS, worked hard behind the scenes, before, during and after school to make KHS a place to be proud of. Their dedication shined through to each and every student and teacher.

Mr. Uppinghouse checks to make sure everyone is on before starting on his bus route.

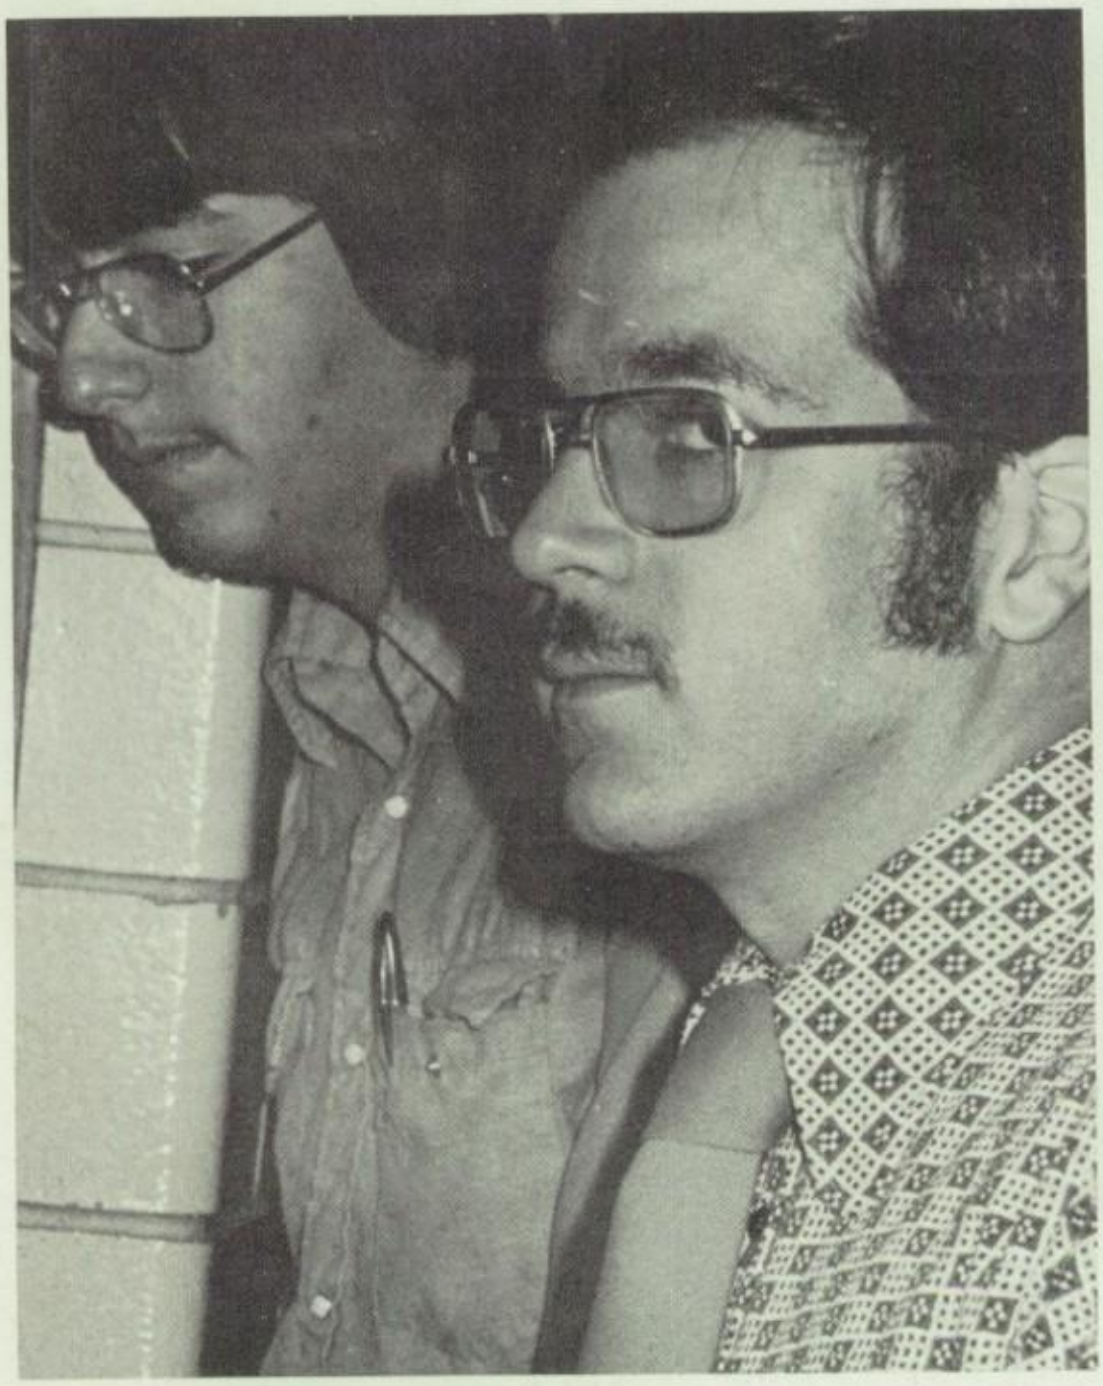
TEACHERS

During the Homecoming Bonfire, Mr. Goodwin listens to one of the attendant's speeches.

Always helpful, Mr. Uppinghouse discusses an issue with Dave Bystery.



To get the crowd fired-up for the next night's Homecoming Football game, Mr. Kirkham gives one of his most spirited speeches.

Guiding and teaching, the faculty of KHS was a source of education and friendship to any student who was interested. Teaching was more than a job to these wonderful people. They showed their interest and concern by giving a few, small gatherings and volunteering their free time so students could enjoy extra-curricular activities. The faculty, also, tried to insure a quality education for each individual student. This, too, was accomplished, as shown by many KHS test score averages being among the highest in Illinois and the nation. The teachers of this school are a true asset to everyone associated with them.

Good luck-
Mrs Blake

From Academics

From academics to sports, the Teachers of KHS were active and involved throughout the entire year. They encouraged the students, also, to be active and involved and to broaden their horizons and develop individuality. Their own uniqueness added an inexplicable benefit to the school and students. By teaching more than can be extracted from a text book, they gave a personal touch to the lives of each student at KHS. A touch that will be present for years to come. In addition, they enriched the lives of the teachers through their association. Learning from past experiences, the faculty taught students to benefit from all achievements. The teaching staff of KHS is not something to be forgotten quickly but is to be treasured for a long time to come.

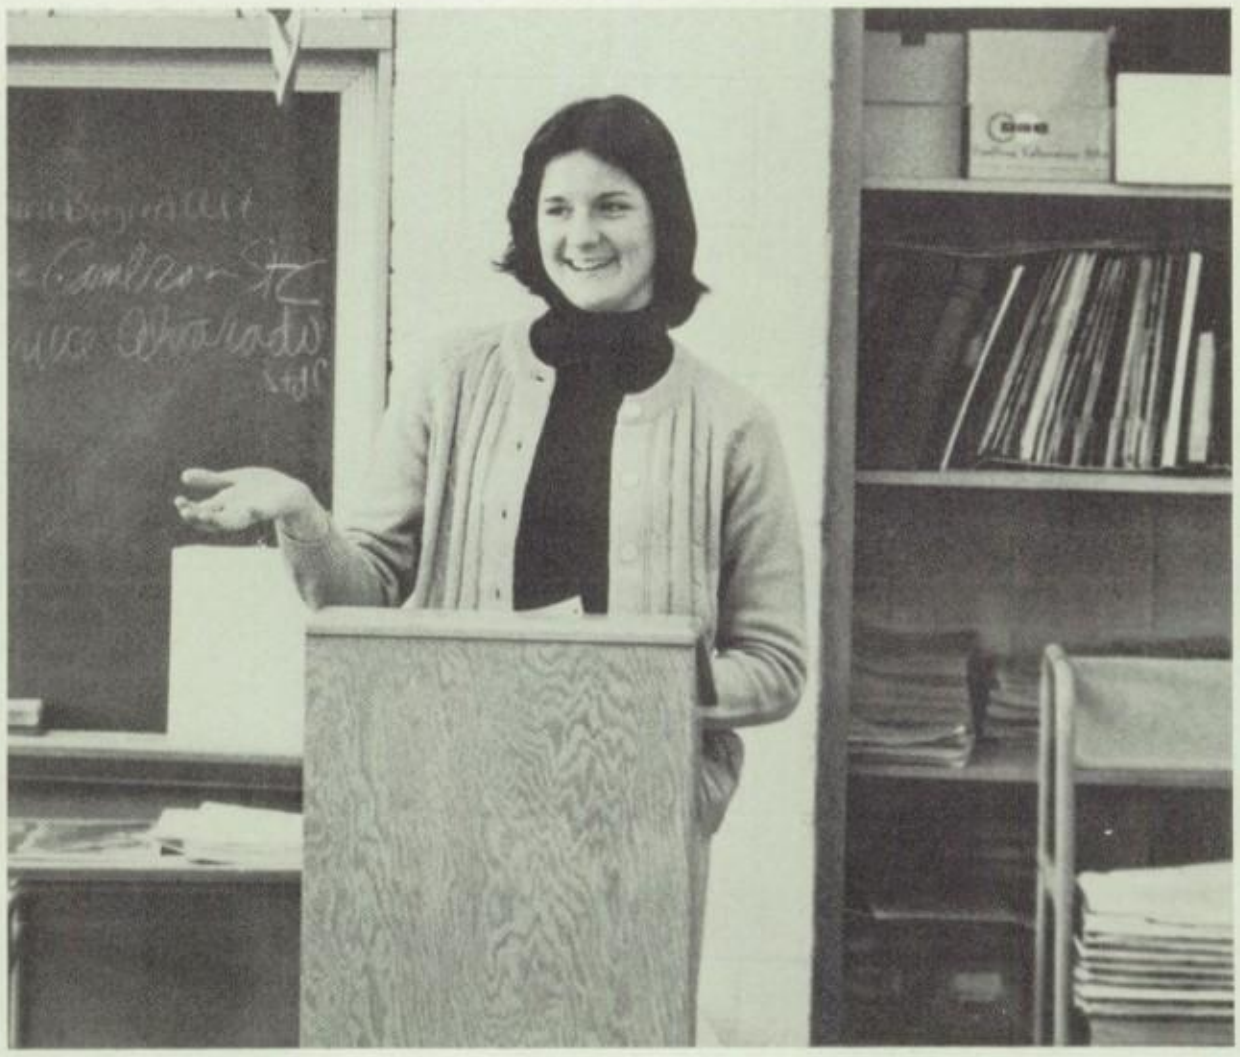
Literatures And Speeches

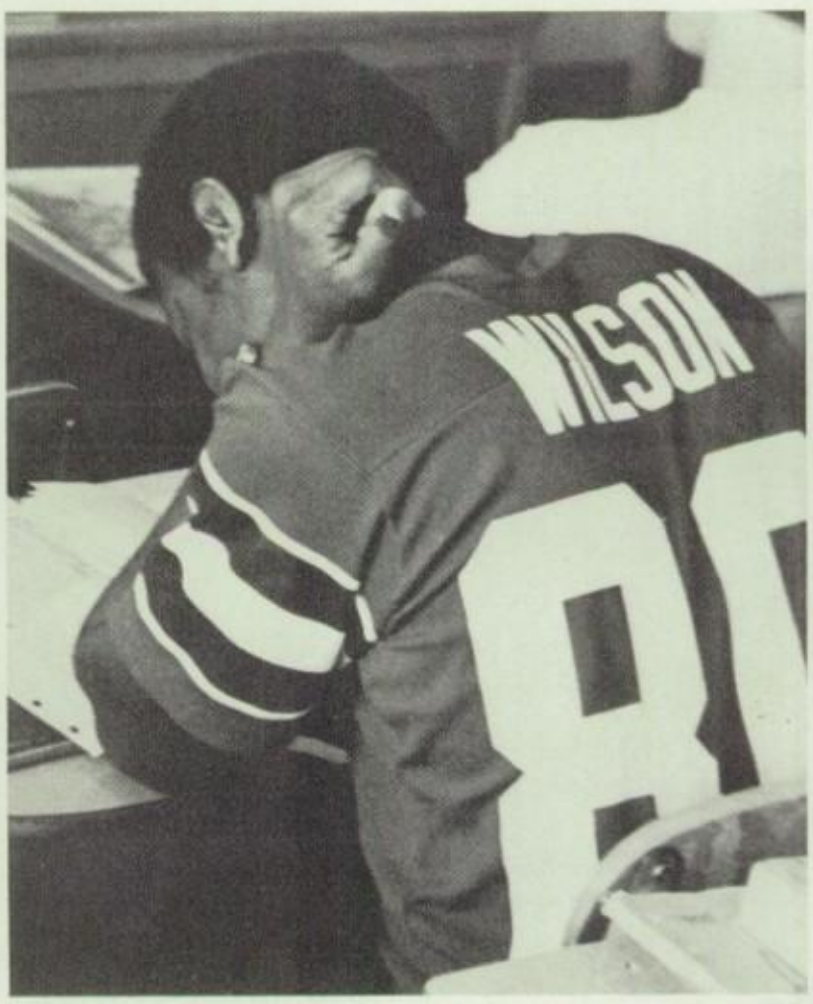
KHS's Language Arts Department introduced a new curriculum, this year, to upgrade the proficiency of student English skills. They also devised a stricter method for grades,, insuring that students will know how to write by the time they leave high school.

The general attitude of this department is to regulate the grammar taught from kindergarten to Senior English. Since linguistics has not worked out in the curriculum, they have returned to the structural, basic grammar. Their main goal is to improve their department in its functions. Their success is the students' gain.



Kelle Lindbeck puts hand gestures to work as she gives one of her speeches in Mrs. McKinney's class.

As his English IV-C students work, Mr. Williams goes around the room to staple their tests together.



Studying hard, Bryan Wilson goes over an English assignment.

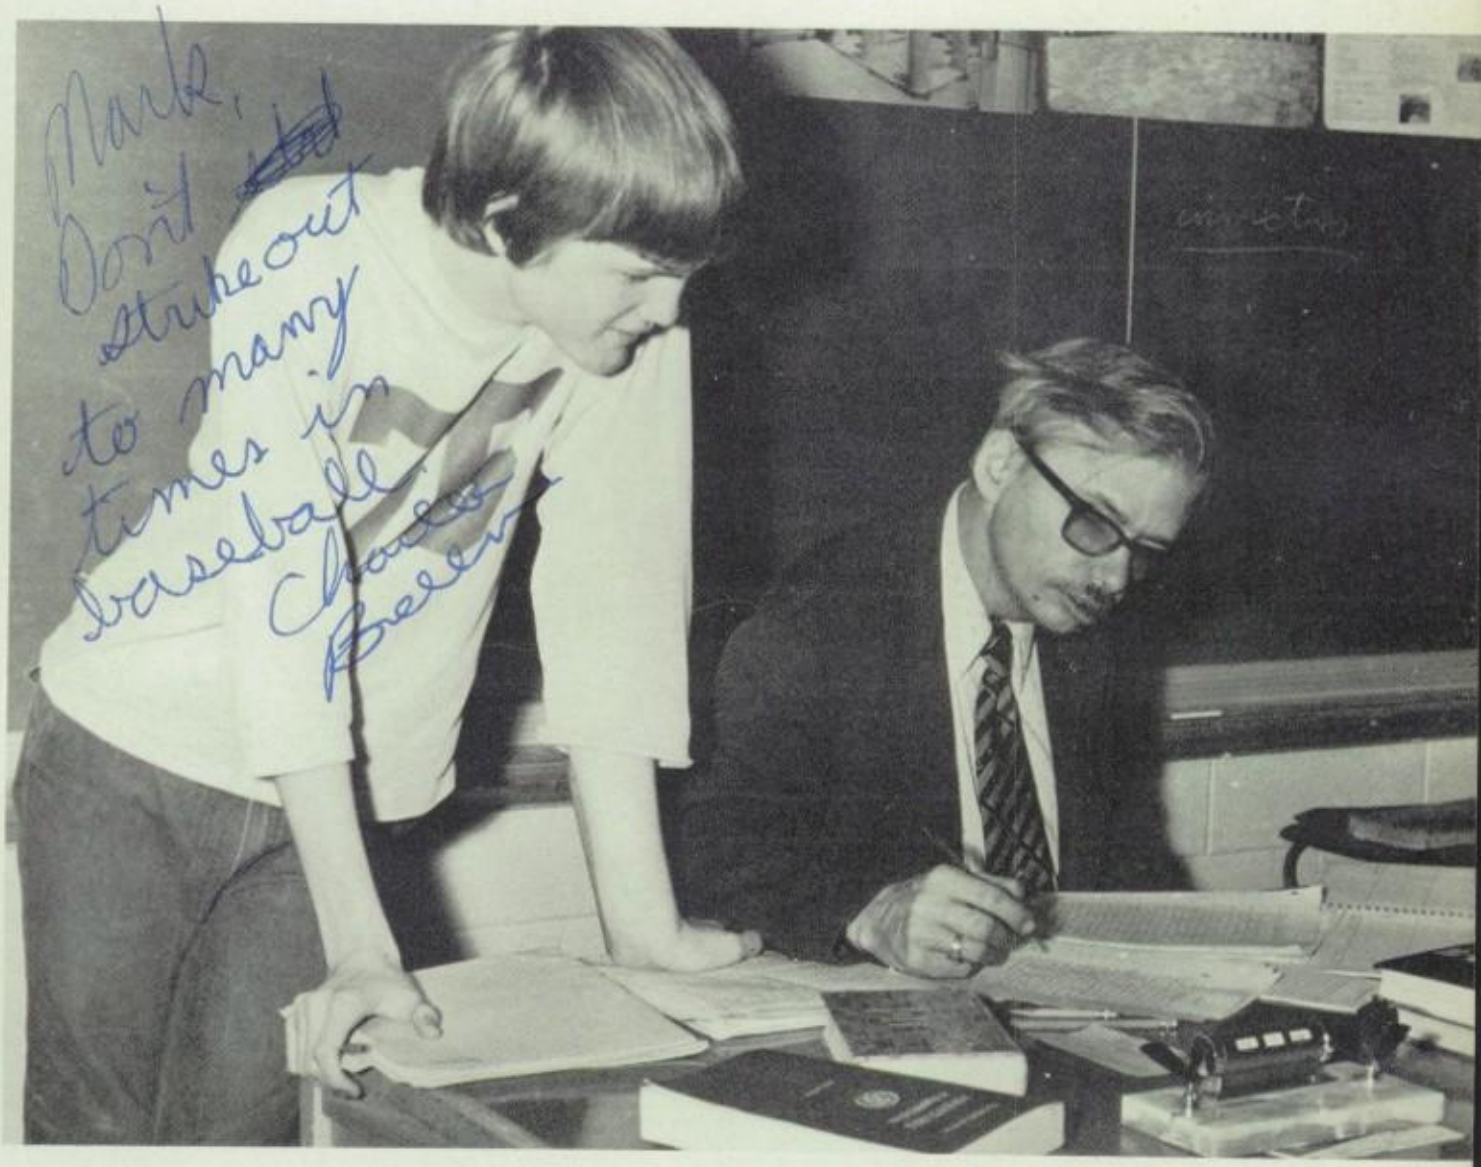
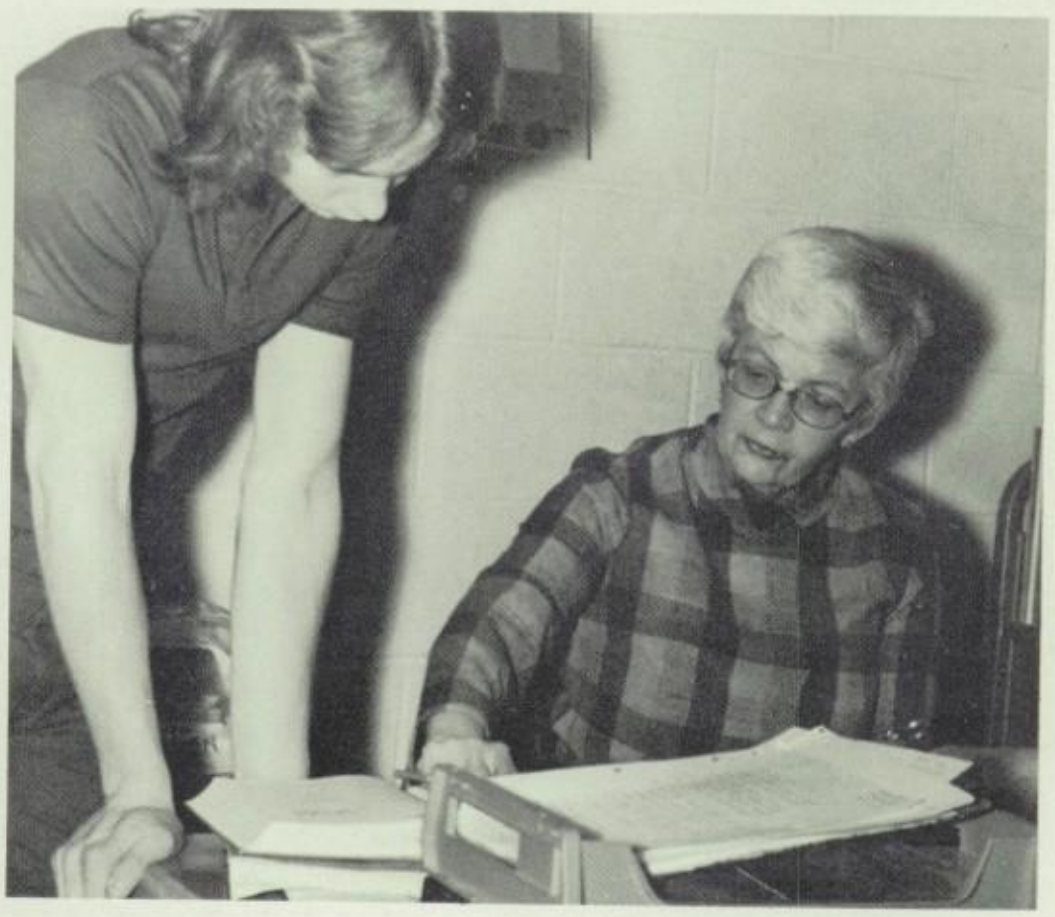
Mr. Carlat explains a correction on Chuck Bollman's paper.





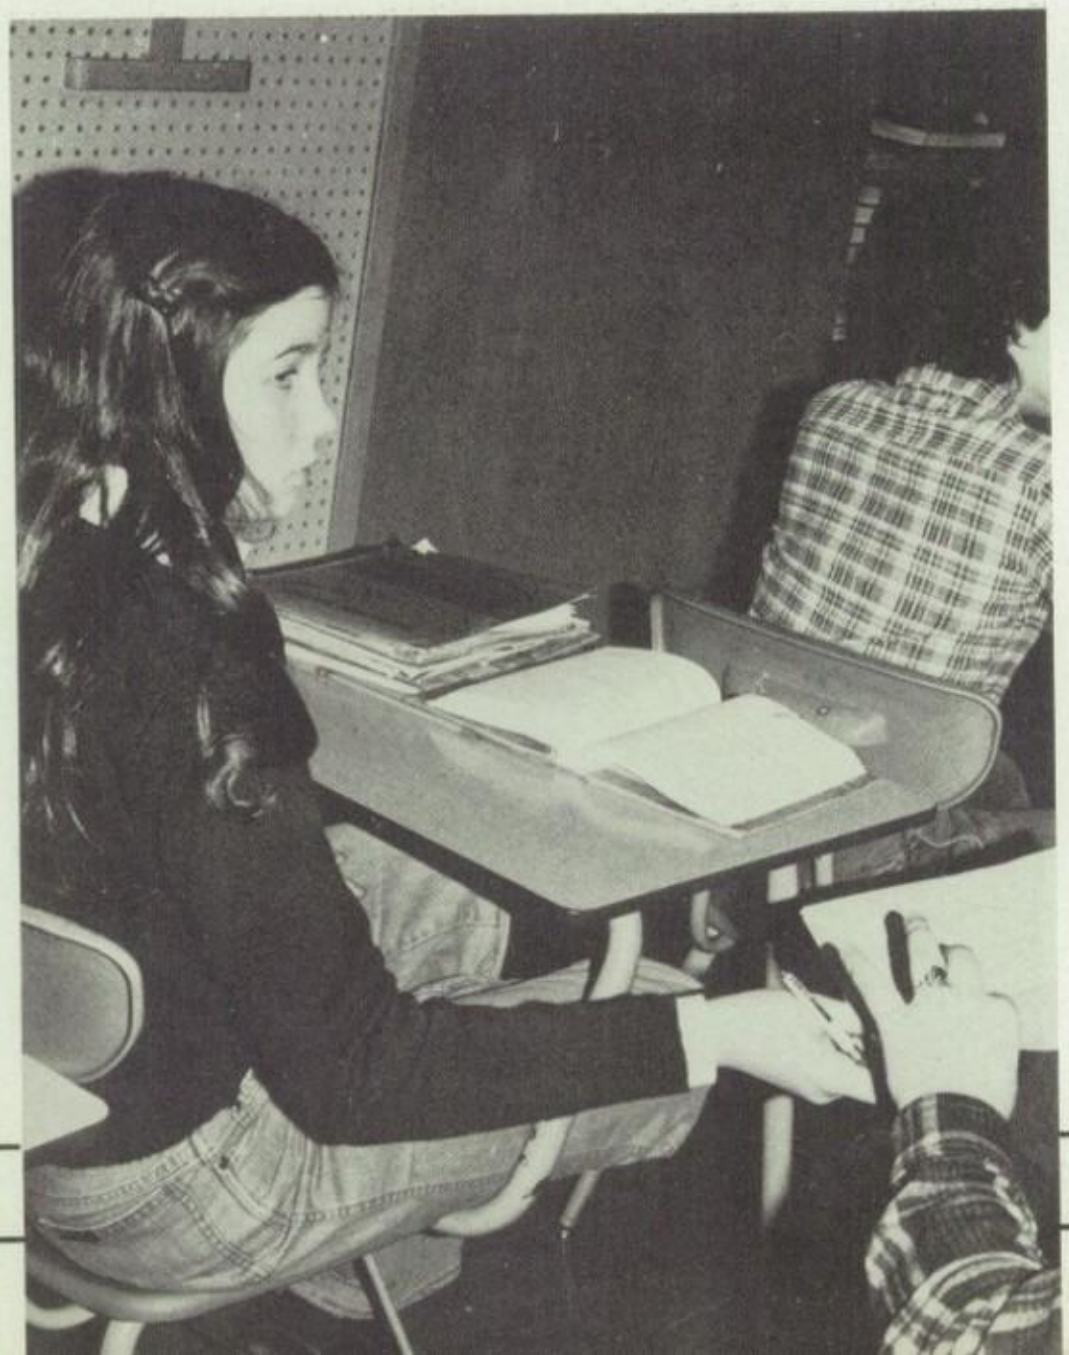
Ray Hayes watches as Mrs. Johnson points out a few things on a literature assignment.

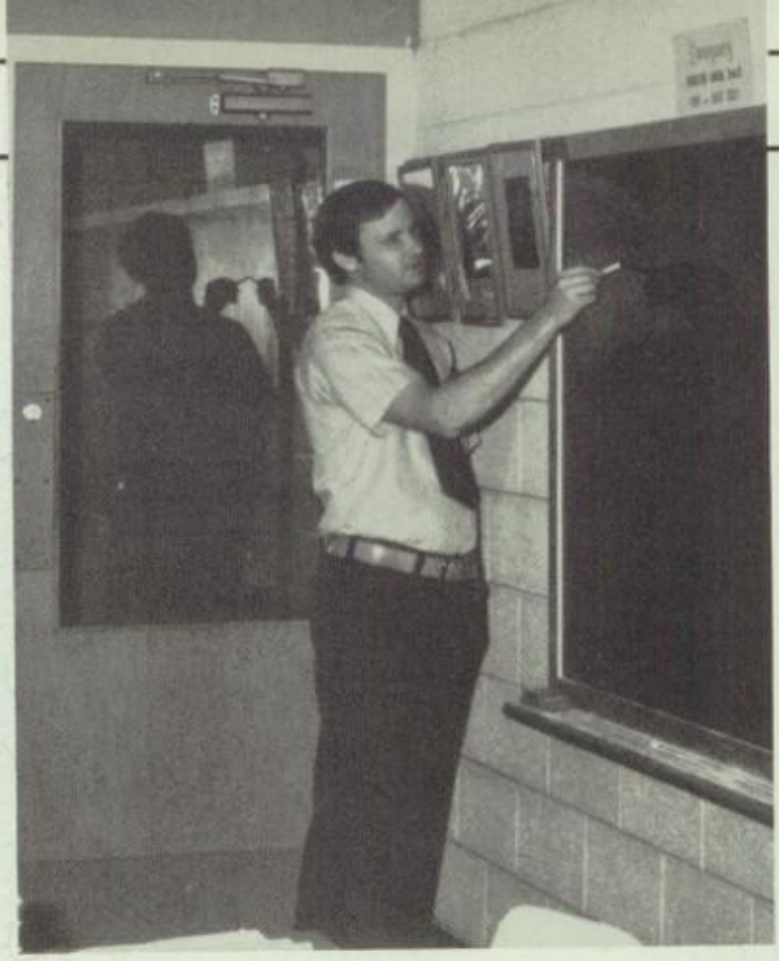
As her students work in class, Mrs. Scott walks about the room to answer any questions that come up.

ax + by = c means what?

Introductory Analysis does not prove to be much of a problem for Kayoko Hashimato.

Laura Cole exchanges a test with her neighbor; or is it a note?





Trying to get his Intro class to understand, Mr. Wallace starts a new chapter.

Mr. Uppinghouse entertains his Geometry class with a new million dollar penny game.

To many students, mathematics consists only of memorizing formulas. Math is more than that. Mathematics is applying the formulas to new concepts that are taught. With many different levels to chose from, students could brush-up on basic skills, like adding and subtracting, or take challenging college preparatory classes, like Algebra II and Introductory Analysis. The students may have found some things they did not understand, but their teachers were always glad to try to explain the ideas more.

Parlez-vous Francais? Sprechen Sie Deutch? Habla a Español? Vocis Latin? If you can answer any of these questions, you have probably studied one or more of the four languages offered at KHS. Dictation, conjugation, recitation—every language student has these constantly in mind. Hard work gradually pays off in a large vocabulary and increased knowledge of a different country and culture. As the world gets smaller, the need for a second language grows. The language department goes a long way toward meeting this need.

Current Society

The Social Studies Department covers a wide variety of subjects, including history, government, sociology, world geography, and economics. These classes reveal former civilizations and ways of life, teach the workings of local, state, and national government, delve into human behavior, view the world and bring it into focus, and teach the ins and outs of this country's economic system.

Today's society needs people who are well informed in each of these fields. The social studies department of KHS seeks to meet this need.

The Study Of Science

Steve Schwefel, Rich Lasky, and Craig Cecil get a charge out of Physics.

Working very carefully, Tim Ingle dissects throughly to learn of each part of his mink.

Interested in Physiology, Elaine Peed concentrates intensely on a mink she is dissecting.

Experimenting, developing, and discovering. The science department at KHS is designed to help the student learn by doing. Whether studying molecules or momentum, students gain a better perspective of science by working in the lab. Science classes have their lighter side, too! Escaped fruit flies kept the biology classes on their toes. Physics students had many "shocking" experiences. The physiology classes even had a skeleton in their closet, namely, George. However, the science department still gives the student an excellent background in science, useful both in college and in the outside world.

FINE ARTS

Marty Mitchell and Jeff Warner concentrate as they each engrave their own designs on a leather belt.

Camie Whitmer tries out a new design on her weaving project.

Mrs. Ulblauer points out a new technique in glazing to Charlie Summers on his ceramic project.

The Fine Arts Department is divided into the music and art sections. As head of choir, Mr. Olsen had the choir purchase new robes with money raised in the last two years. By being appointed Band Director this year, he developed the band's repertoire greatly.

Mrs. Ublauer heads up the art classes, which learn all the basic forms of art. Progressing from minors to majors, the students become better acquainted with all aspects of art.

Productive Learning

The Vocation Education Department covers home economics, shop, work program, and agriculture classes. Each of these areas prepares the students involved for life after high school whether they go on to college or not. For instance, the farm management class is in charge of the school farm—everything from building fences to picking the corn. All of the classes stress a hands-on procedure to give each student practical experience in the subject. Realizing the diversity of students at KHS, the Vo-Ed Department offers a wide variety of classes to meet many of the students needs and interests.

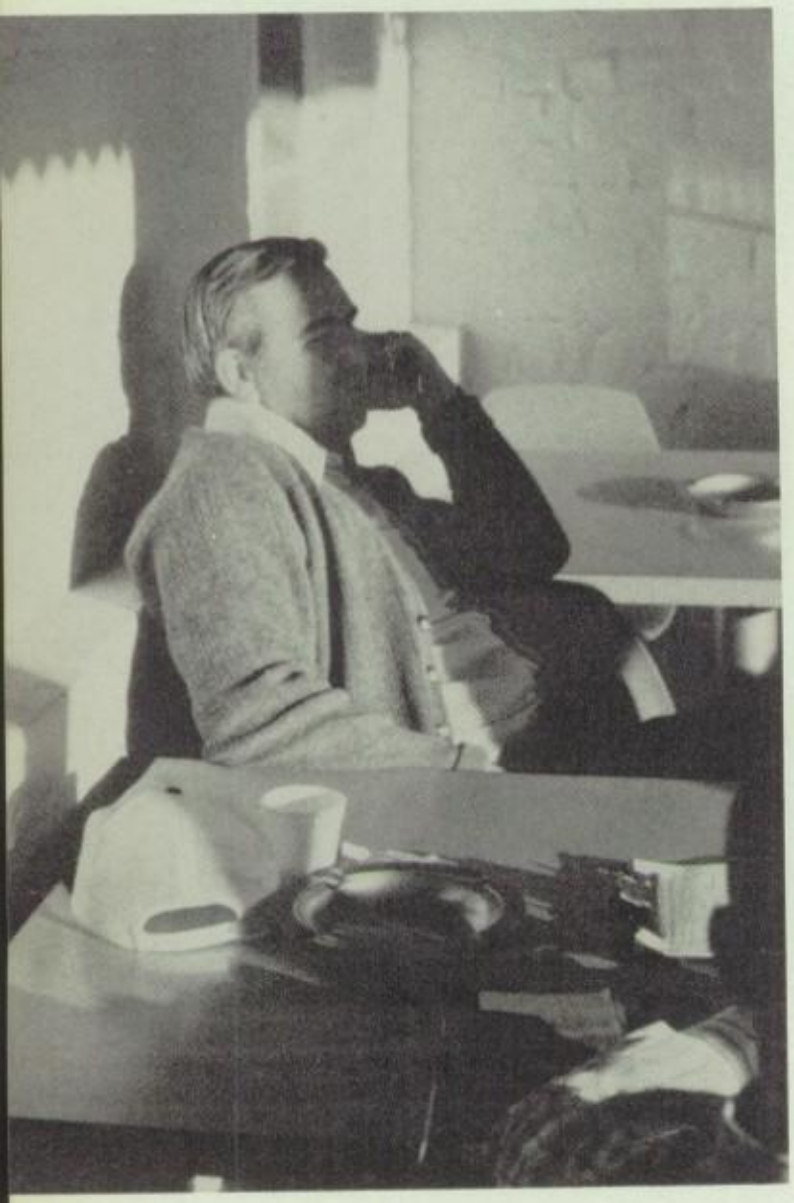
Sparks are flying when Miles Moresy uses an arc welder.

Heading For The Roads



Mr. Lazar is in charge of KHS's Drivers' Education Department. Also instructing KHS sophomores are Mr. Sanders and Mr. Lindbeck. After having class instruction, the students drive during first or second semesters or during the summer. The student's age is the deciding factor for when he will drive each semester, since the actual driving is done nearest to the time the student will receive his license. This department strives to keep the streets of Kewanee safe by doing its best in teaching the students the proper "rules of the road."

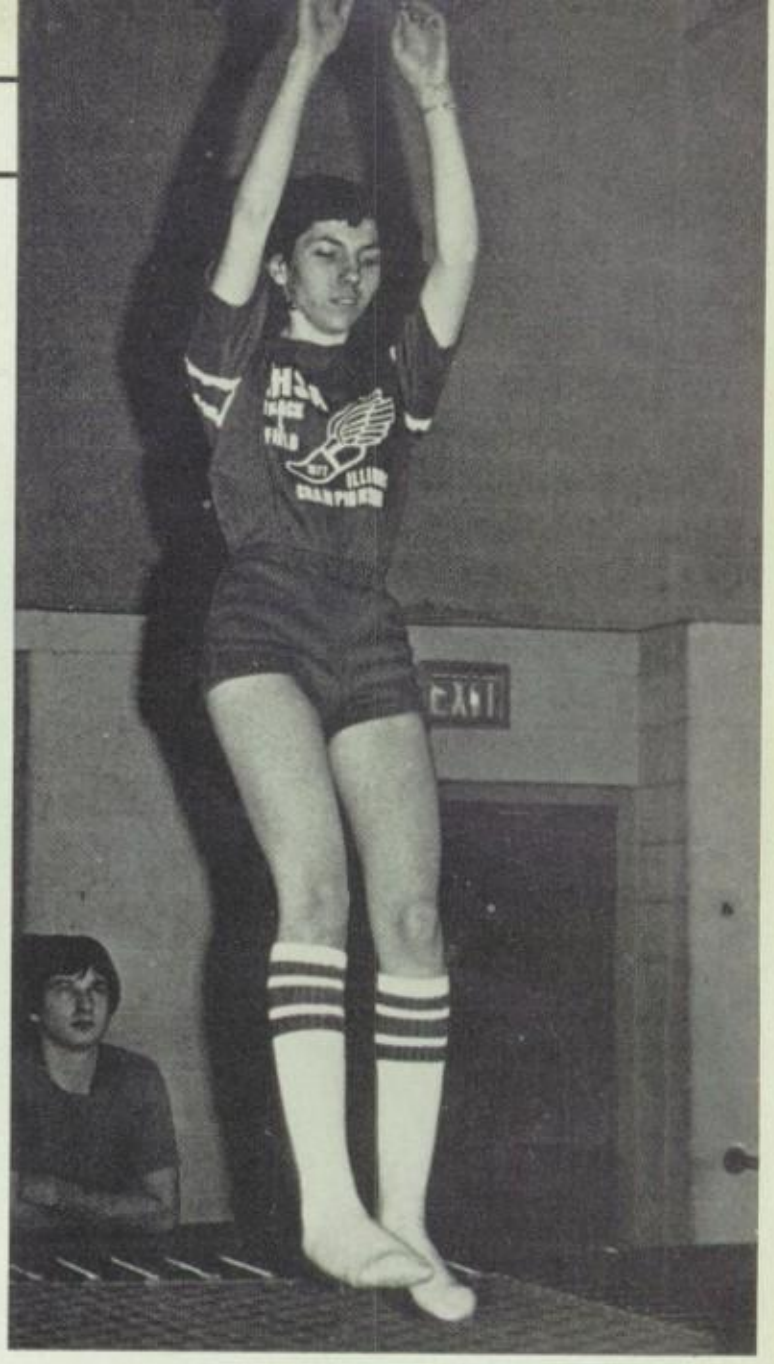
This class of sophomores must realize the importance of Drivers' Education since they seem to be paying quite a lot of attention to the teacher.

Mr. Lazar relaxes for a moment after driving with one of his students.

Trying to impress the importance of good driving, Mr. Lazar notes very carefully the number of auto accidents in the past year.

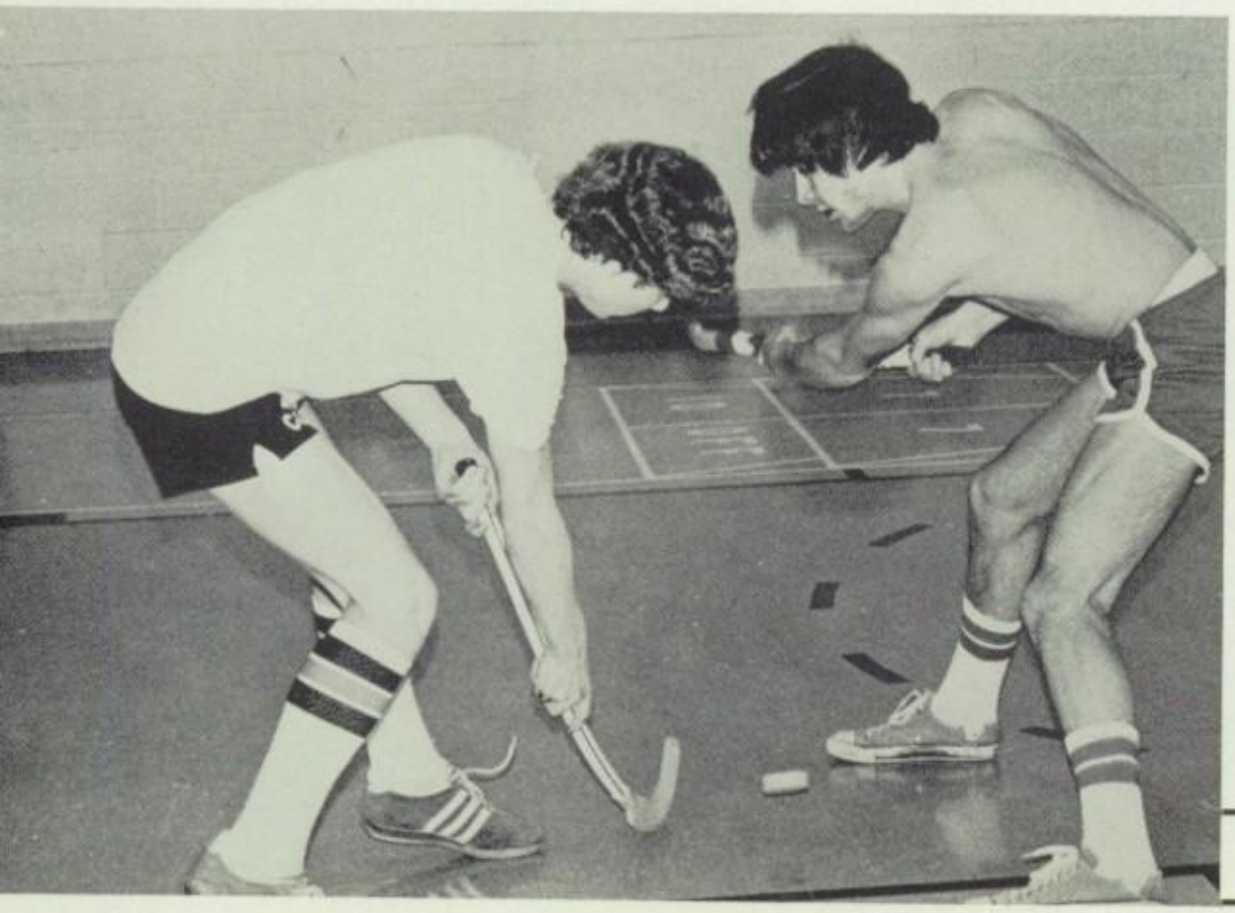
KEEPING FIT

Stretching higher than his opponent, Steve Whetstone blocks a vital point.



Practicing on the trampoline during Mini-Course week, Kris Tunney goes up for a seat-drop.

Greg Hanson and Rich Lasky fight for the puck as Jay Estes gets ready to block the goal.



While the other departments provide for the development of the student's mind, the Physical Education Department provides for the care and health of the student's body. Many changes have taken place through the years in this department at KHS. One of the most noticable of these is the switch to co-ed classes. No longer are the girls and boys restricted to their halves of the gym floor. Students now can combine their skills in volleyball, whiffle ball, and other sports. Though some sports are still separated in a few of the classes, most agree that the game is better with both guys and girls on the team. Competition, fun, education, bruises, those funny little gym suits, and the gym socks you forgot to take home and wash—all are a part of physical education at KHS.

Working Together

Senior History

It all began in the fall of 1974. James Earl Carter had never been heard of, but Watergate had. Nixon had resigned, and Gerald Ford was President of the United States. Meanwhile, in one of those United States—Illinois—in the small city of Kewanee, a new freshman class had entered the Kewanee High School. It was a very green freshman class which messed up the first battle cry in the great tradition of all freshman classes.

Government matters did not concern these struggling freshmen, who tried—very hard—to get used to such a large school. The halls were crowded with these freshmen looking for their classes, in the muddle, typical of KHS corridors. They felt no pride for the office of President of the United States. Instead, they were in awe of the seniors and wondered if their freshman class would adjust just as well.

However, they settled into the school day routine and even went so far as to introduce a fresh new frosh team into the school. Their football team did just great with a 5-4 record; in basketball, they outclassed them all with a 13-5 record on the "A" team and a 13-3 record on the "B" team.

What other assets did those freshmen have that year? They had their first Homecoming, the last student lounge, and the first mini-course week ever—a gift from the departing seniors.

That was their first year, and they learned a lot over the summer. When they came back in the fall as sophomores, they were the rowdiest class at KHS. No longer green, they won the coveted spirit stick—its first year—over and over again at assemblies. Their Riveter football team took 4 wins, 5 losses, and 1 tie that season. Basketball was better still with a 12-7 record.

Since they received their driver's licenses, Kewanee roads were never the same. Their interests were broadening and speech class aided this, but so far, they had not yet become interested in national and international affairs. School matters were more important. They got Boiler spirit at Homecoming and their class rings in May.

The end of their second year at KHS brought them into the Bicentennial year and helped to widen their historic scope. By the time they became juniors in the fall, they were ready for U.S. History and ways to show their patriotic colors. This they did with their fine junior class play performance of "Oklahoma!" For Prom they went to fantasy with a Storybookland theme to treat the seniors.

Their Varsity football team showed its skill by placing second in NCIC and beating LP—the first time ever in KHS football history. Their new coach, James Sanders, was the man who brought back pride and dignity to Kewanee High School's football team. Their basketball team won the Princeton Tourney and placed third at the Macomb Tourney, beating Galesburg for the first time in 22 years. The year was good for history-making. They paid for the Boilermaker sign in the cafeteria and they elected—after a wild campaign week—Tom Curran for Student Council President.

Was there really only one year left? There didn't seem to be enough time left to do all the things that needed to be done, because in the fall of 1977, those juniors became seniors. They sat in the front center section of the auditorium; they figured their class rank and vied for the top 10% of the class. They ordered announcements, caps, gowns, and other necessities for graduation. It seemed awful to be leaving, but they could not restrain a certain eagerness at the thought of the world opening up ahead of them. They were kept busy all the time with English term papers to deal with before the year let out.

Their basketball team brought in a first place trophy from the Macomb Tourney, and Varsity football bought in a 5-4 record. Their senior class play was a major success—another historic venture. Prom was a wonderful way to round out the year.

The next step was perhaps the hardest. All their lives the decisions had not rested on their shoulders. Now it did. They had to go out and face that big, beautiful, but sometimes bullying world and decide how they would fulfill their lives. Would they find a job, go to college, or get married? Any way they chose, it was their selection. No matter what their preference, they knew that they were tomorrow's leaders.

The camera catches Phil Weingart the moment he comes out of the dressing room.

Needing some information fast, Cheryl Munoz makes a phone call between classes.

Marvin Dennis, working as an aide in the office, delivers some of the teachers checks.

Merilee Herrick and Jeff Fortman broadcast the Homecoming Parade for the local TV station, Channel 7.

Super-fine '79

This year's junior class experienced probably their best year yet with a successful class play, "The Pajama Game" and their fine prom. As upper-classmen, the class of '79 participated on all the varsity teams at Kewanee High School. The juniors had the opportunity to get really involved in Homecoming by participating as co-chairmen or committee members for Homecoming. The junior class displayed an impressive collection of hall signs and won the plaque at the Homecoming assembly for best hall.

This year was also one of the busiest years for juniors. Many students were on the work-program or had jobs after school. Others found themselves spending their free time at the school, busy with extra-curricular activities. With college soon to be a reality, some students came to the school early Saturday mornings to take the PSAT and the ACT tests. At the end of the year, a member of the class of '79 campaigned and was elected president of the student council. These experiences assured the out-come of a super-fine '79.

A Class By Itself

This year, the Sophomores were able to experience new parts of KHS. They had their first taste of class rings, driver's ed., speech class, and a sports team—the Riveters. All of the facets of KHS were open to the Sophomores. They used this to advantage, to show their talents and increase their capabilities.

Sophomores survived the climaxes and downfalls that accompany being individuals. They showed their individuality in every part and happening of KHS. Their knowledge and involvement added to the atmosphere of pride and spirit that was present throughout the entire year.

Freshman Green Turns

New! Everything new! Experiencing KHS for the first time had a new and exhilarating feeling that would never be the same after the Freshman year. As they were told in the eighth grade, the Freshmen were "at the bottom of the pile" but quickly showed the Sophomores, Juniors, and Seniors that they were as willing to get involved and show their spirit and talents as much as everyone else. Maybe more so, because they were new and had spirit in them that had never had an opportunity to come out.

Clubs, Homecoming, football and basketball games, Midwinter, mini-courses, and pep assemblies have been a part of KHS for a long time, but they were all new to the Freshman and received that Freshman touch. New ideas and "fresh" ways of doing things came with being a Freshman. These new ideas and "fresh" ways added to the quality of KHS.

Boiler Orange

By the end of the year, the Freshmen had a well-established part of KHS. They were no longer "Freshman Green" but had become "Boiler Orange." Next year, as Sophomores, they would put all of their new experiences together and come up with a better Sophomore year; even though, the Freshman year seemed pretty terrific. KHS enriched the life of each Freshman, and each Freshman enriched the life of KHS. Only the Freshmen had the ability to bring "freshness" to KHS and put it to good use. They showed they had this capability in all that they did and because they did have this capability, they left a positive mark on KHS.

Involvement

Eric Marshall reads the green.

Studying is an essential part of learning; Mark Kelley realizes this.

Meat,
Sometime this summer we are all going to get some brew and smoke and go cruisin in your Nova.

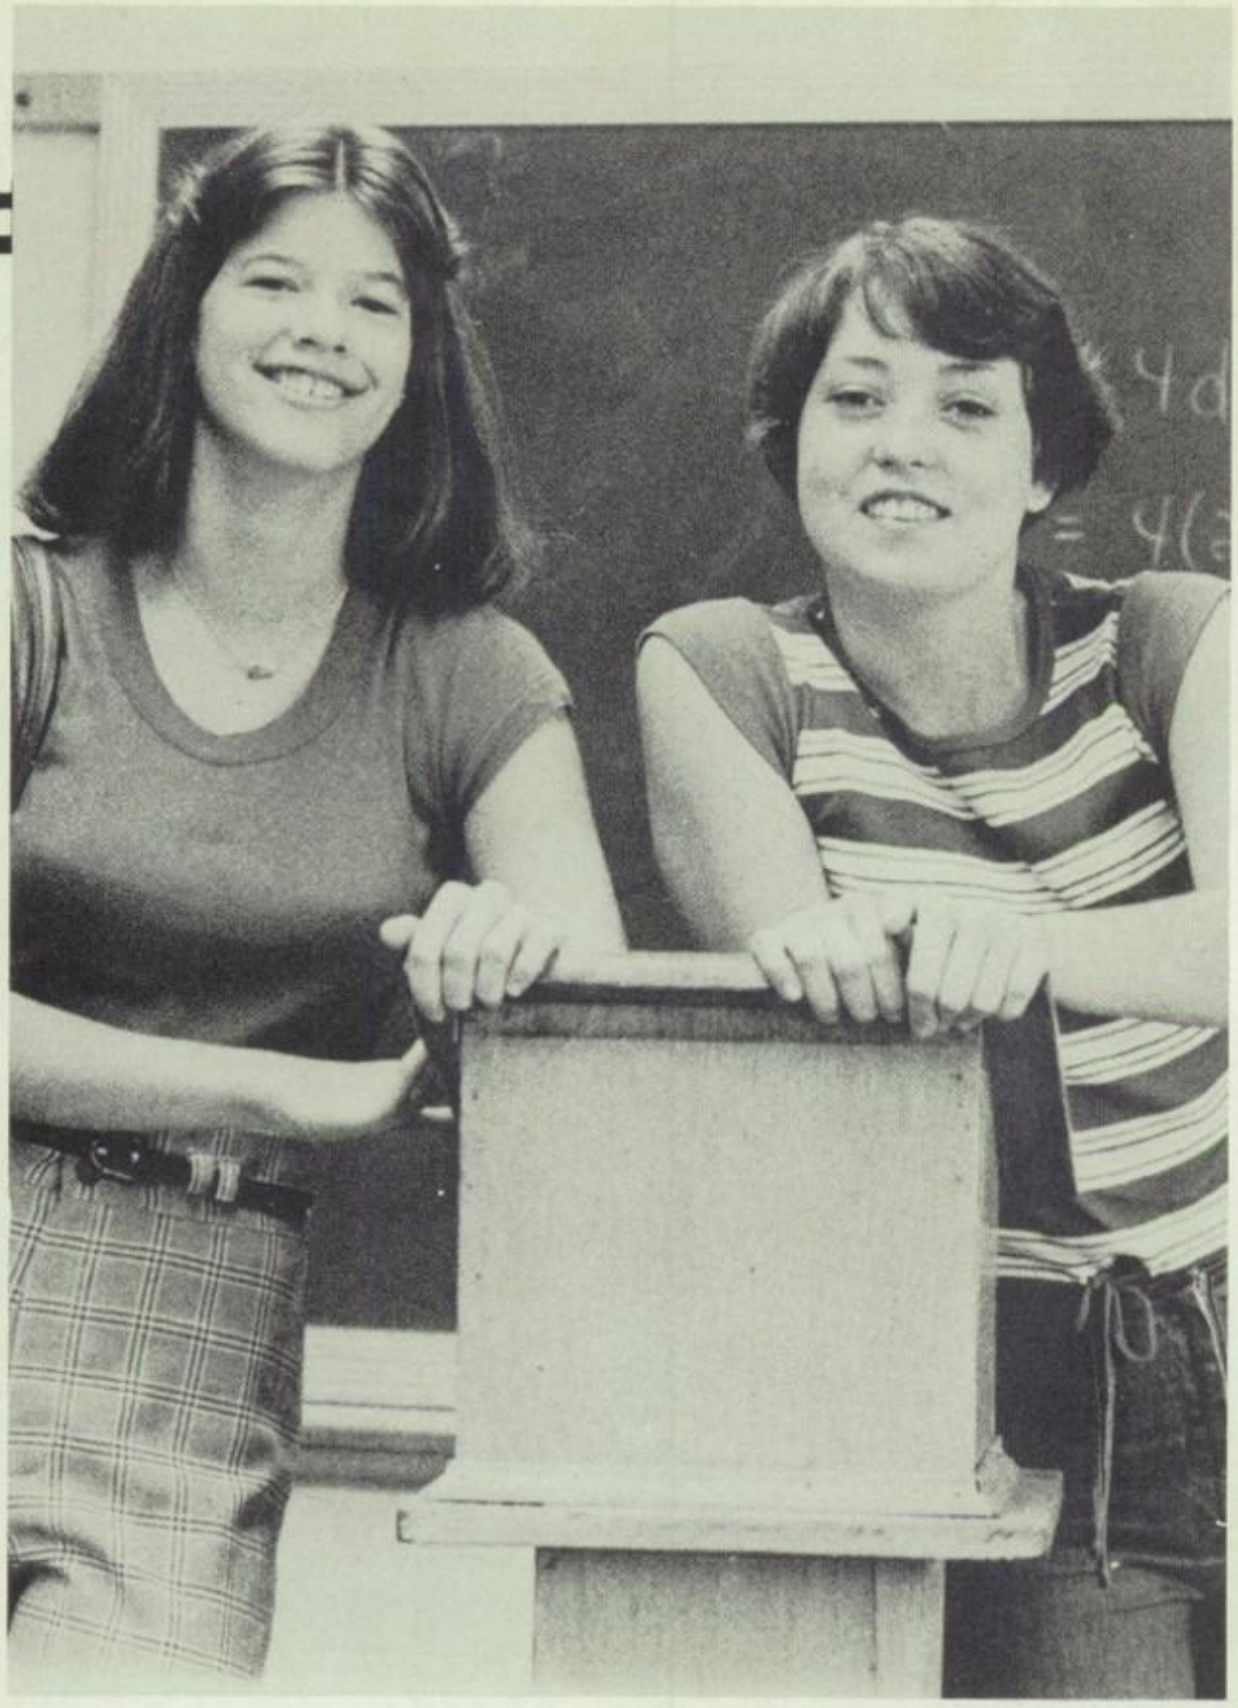
Butt



Cheryl Waller and Debbie Starky hold down the lectern.

There's a smiling face in every crowd.

Leading a cheer at a pep assembly, the Riveter cheerleaders get the crowd fired up.

The library offers a change of atmosphere from study hall for students Sara Schwefel, Curt Rosebeck, Terri Rowland and Steve Rowland.

Lunch hour is that time of the day when students can gather in the halls with friends.

This year has been a year to remember. The experience began for the freshmen and ended for the seniors. These memories will remain over the years, fading to a mere outline of the best years of life. The games were exciting and the spirit was high, leaving a lasting impression of true Boiler pride. The times were sometimes trying, but, for the most part, worth the experience.

While waiting for an open court at tennis practice, Janet Shinkevich and Jeanette Ptasnik horse around.
